U.S. NEVER PLANNED COVER

Kennedy Declares Airplanes Not Ours

. . . SEES NO CUBAN BUILDUP

Washington (UPI) — President Kennedy said Thursday that the United States never planned to provide air cover for the ill-fated Bay of Pigs invasion of Cuba.

He also told a news conference that continual air surveillance of the island has shown no threatening inflow of arms to the Fidel Castro regime from the Soviet Union.

The question of whether the anti-Castro invaders were promised U.S. air cover by the administration boiled into controversy this week when the President's brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said that no such pledge had ever been made.

Goldwater

Republicans, led by Sen. Barry F. Goldwater, R-Ariz., have demanded investigations to ascertain the facts surrounding the invasion fiasco.

Anti-Castro refugee leaders, including Antonio de Varona, vice president of the Cuban Revolutionary Council and Cubans who took part in the invasion, charged that the air cover was promised but then withdrawn.

Postponed

The President, asked to set the situation straight, acknowledged that an air strike on behalf of the invaders had been postponed from morning to afternoon. But he said these "were flown by pilots . . . based not in the United States, not American planes."

He conceded that the invasion forces "were under the impression" that the B26 bombers were available and "would give them protection on the beach."

"That did not work out," the chief executive admitted. "That was one of the failures."

He observed that jets sent up against the B26's were "very effective and, therefore . . . the brigade was not able to maintain air supremacy on the beach."

The President twice stressed, however, the air cover planes were "not from the United States."

Kennedy insisted the statement made by the attorney general, that no U.S. air cover had been planned was correct.

Might As Well

"Obviously," he said, "if you are going to have United States cover, you might as well have a complete United States commitment, which would have meant a full-fledged invasion by the United States in April, 1961."

Kennedy told the news conference that much of the confusion stems from the use of the word "air cover."

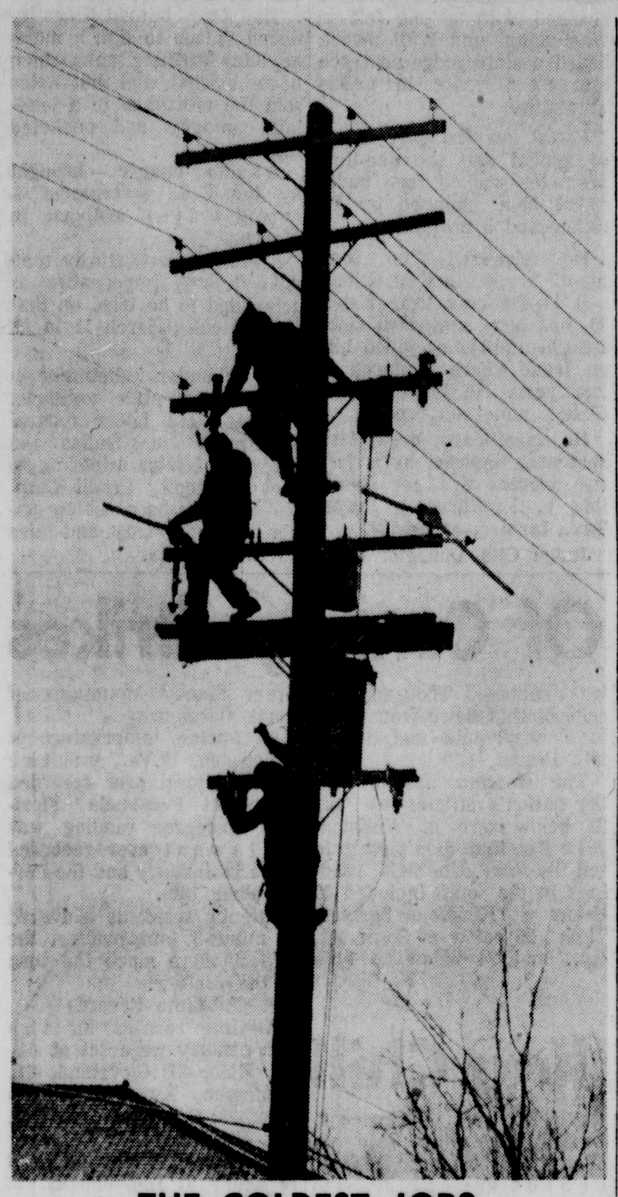

He differentiated between United States air cover "as opposed to air cover which was attached to the (invasion) brigade, some of which flew from various parts of this continent, not from the United States."

Only One

Concerning reports that the Soviet Union has intensified its arms buildup in Cuba, the President reported that surveillance showed that since settlement of the missile crisis, only one Russian ship that might have carried arms had arrived. Kennedy acknowledged that there probably still are between 16,000 and 17,000 Russians in Cuba operating small missile sites and other technical equipment.

"They are exercising, building some barracks," he reported. "There is no influx of military equipment, other than the ship, and, as I say our scrutiny of Cuba is daily."

Two congressional committees have arranged to question State and Defense Department officials about reports of a Russian buildup on the island. Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., said he learned of the reported buildup from Cuban refugee sources.

THE COLDEST JOB?

A lot of Lincolnites might have claimed their job was the coldest on recent sub-zero days. But, these City Light Department linemen working high on a wind-whipped No. 10th Street pole would have to rank near the top of the list. (Star Photo)

—467 NOW—
Unicam's Bill Pace Growing

The 1963 Legislature Thursday raced relentlessly nearer a bill introduction record.

With 26 new proposals introduced during the morning session, total bills at the conclusion of the 18th legislative day reached 467—nearly 100 above the pace set in 1961.

Some 379 bills had been introduced in the same period of time two years ago.

Meanwhile, the bill drafter's office received its 766th request to draft a measure for possible introduction. By comparison, only 767 bills had been drafted at the end of the 20th day in 1961.

Two years ago, 670 measures were tossed in the hopper during the first 20 days—including 237 on the final day.

Deadline Near

Deadline for introduction of bills by individual senators is the 20th day.

Senators will decide Friday whether to by-pass a general session next Monday in order to extend the 20th day until Tuesday. This would allow bill drafters an extra day to complete their work.

Such action was taken in 1961 in order to have all requested bills ready for introduction.

Standing committees would still hold public hearings scheduled for Monday even if the Legislature does not meet that morning.

After the 20th day, bills may be introduced only by a committee or upon the request of the governor.

The bill record of 739 was set in 1959.

Property Bill Gets Slight Opposition

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

A bill authorizing the state to take possession of property unclaimed or abandoned for more than 10 years bumped into a flood of proposed amendments Thursday — but astonishingly little flat opposition.

The measure, LB8, was amended by the Banking, Commerce and Insurance Committee and held for further study.

In other action, the committee heard and killed on a 4-2 vote LB192, providing the state and most governmental subdivisions authority to purchase liability insurance covering employes who operate government vehicles.

Killed In 1961

The unclaimed property bill was almost identical to a proposal which attracted fierce opposition in the 1961 session. It never survived the committee hurdle.

This year, the willingness of opponents to amend LB8, rather than destroy it, obviously pleased its introducer, Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff.

"This was a new experience," he declared.

"We should resolve doubts raised by the language of the bill in favor of those who offered amendments. All the things they asked are reasonable."

Caution Demanded

Carpenter said that "the people demand that we proceed with a great deal of caution in establishing a new policy."

What he would urge the 1963 Legislature to do, he declared, would be to "first adopt the principle and the policy" of claiming abandoned property.

About 40 states have already enacted such legislation, Carpenter said. He told the committee he has "no idea" how much revenue the bill would raise.

Immediately accepted by the committee was a Carpenter amendment to place unclaimed property taken by the state in the general fund. Under LB8's original language, it would have gone into the permanent school fund.

Also adopted were amendments proposed by the Nebraska Bankers Association and the Nebraska League of Savings and Loan Associations, which provide that a notice from their organization to a customer with a dormant account be accepted as evidence that the account has not been abandoned if the notice is mailed first class and not returned.

Other Changes

Other changes were requested by the Nebraska Railroads Association, the Farmers Union, Bankers Life Insurance Co. of Nebraska, the County Officials Association and the Nebraska Cooperative Council.

Most related to alterations more strictly limiting the bill's application and making compliance less burdensome.

Opposition testimony was voiced by Robert Crosby of Lincoln, representing the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Lincoln.

Crosby said little revenue would likely come from his client in spite of a substantial burden of record-keeping and paperwork.

"Perhaps," he said, "it may be justifiable to go to these lengths to see that the chicken is plucked clean . . . but it might be better to get revenue directly."

Science Unit Charged With Fund Misuse

Washington (AP) — Charges of misuse of more than $300,000 in government funds by a leading national science organization came to light Thursday.

Money involved was part of grants, running as much as $2.5 million a year, made by the National Science Foundation (NSF) to the American Institute of Biological Sciences (AIBS).

Officials of the NSF said there is "no evidence of personal gain" on the part of anyone within AIBS.

Dr. James D. Ebert, president of AIBS, conceded Thursday "the weight of evidence of irregularity . . . is heavy."

He said he is calling an emergency meeting of the institute's governing board for Friday and will ask the board to assess each of the organization's 30,000 members $10 a year for an indefinite period until AIBS repays what the NSF says it owes the government.

Tax Revisions To Come Hard

. . . CUTTING WILL BE EASY

Washington (AP) — Congressional leaders said Thursday they see a rough fight ahead for President Kennedy's tax revision program.

The part about reducing taxes by $13.6 billion would be easy, they said. The hard part comes in the President's proposals for knocking out some special benefits and deductions to raise an off-setting $3.4 billion.

"The President should not feel confident he is going to get that without a hard fight," said Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas, second ranking Republican on the Senate Finance Committee.

No Reforms

A Democrat, Sen. A. Willis Robertson of Virginia, predicted that "what we will get out of all this is a deficit at least as big as the President predicted, and probably bigger tax relief for those in the low income brackets, and no tax reforms whatsoever."

Kennedy's own party leaders in the House and Senate took a cautious stance as the President's 12,500-word special message, outlining his proposals in detail, was delivered on Capitol Hill.

House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., told newsmen "I am confident that a bill will pass this year," but he did not comment directly on Kennedy's proposals. McCormack said a tax reduction is needed to stimulate the economy and help provide jobs for two million young people entering the labor market this year.

Refrain

In the Senate, Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana urged his colleagues to refrain from "shooting from the hip."

"If we bring to the President's proposals an open-mindedness, if we approach them as a totality," Mansfield said, "I am persuaded that we can come up with legislation which will act to move the economy forward, put government finances on a sounder footing, prevent inflation and bring greater equity into the payment of the bills of the nation."

JFK UNWRAPS TAX PROGRAM

Curtis Says Debt Hike Is Tax Cut Flaw

Washington (AP)—Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., said Thursday he could find no fault with President Kennedy's proposed reduction in income tax rates.

But, Curtis added, "I do not believe these reductions should be put into effect by increasing the national debt."

"The President's program would lessen taxes by increasing the debt. This I oppose," he said. "It would appear the President's estimate of picking up $3.4 billion by tax revisions is over-optimistic. Some of his proposals for revisions may not be acceptable to the country or to Congress."

Curtis also contended the fiscal 1962 level of expenditures should be followed and that if certain items must exceed this, increase should be absorbed in other parts of the budget. He also said there should be moratoriums on new programs that expand the government and on pay increases.

Merchant To Muster N-Forces

Washington (AP) — President Kennedy called veteran diplomat Livingstone Merchant out of retirement Thursday to lead a government team that will prepare U.S. proposals for a multi-nation nuclear force in Europe.

Kennedy announced the appointment in a statement read to newsmen by his press secretary, Pierre Salinger.

Although U.S. and British efforts to create a nuclear striking force under the North Atlantic Treaty Organization have run into stiff resistance from the French, Salinger said Merchant and his group will talk with French officials as well as officials of other NATO member countries.

Merchant, once undersecretary of state for political affairs, retired in mid-1962, when he was serving as ambassador to Canada.

Kennedy said the negotiations to be led by Merchant are an outgrowth of the Nassau agreement between the President and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Kennedy said the aim of the Anglo-American plan is to develop "a multilateral NATO nuclear force in the closest consultation with other NATO allies."

Temperatures To Hit 20 Again

Temperatures are expected to hit the 20 mark again in Lincoln Friday — 20 above, that is.

However, the rest of the state might not be included in the heat wave forecast for the Lincoln area and southwest Nebraska.

Occasional snow is predicted for the northern portions and the Panhandle and into the east Friday night. Continued cold temperatures are expected to prevail elsewhere.

The state high Thursday was 29 at Sidney; the state low was 20 below at Grand Island. Lincoln's high was 14, the low 7 below. The mercury dipped to 13 below at the Lincoln Air Force Base.

JFK POKES DE GAULLE

. . . Calls For Unity

Washington (UPI) — President Kennedy warned French President Charles de Gaulle Thursday that neither the United States nor Europe could be sure of survival if some countries decide to "act alone" in the face of the communist threat.

At the same time, the President expressed confidence that De Gaulle would continue to give strong support to the NATO alliance even though he does go ahead with his plan to build an independent nuclear force.

The President opened a news conference with a pointed statement on allied unity. He then covered a wide range of subjects, including James Meredith's future.

Paramount

The President attached paramount importance to the threat posed to the Western alliance by De Gaulle's opposition to Britain's membership in the Common Market and his opposition to a multilateral nuclear force.

He said the resources needed for defense against "the constant threat of the communist advance" are concentrated overwhelmingly in the Atlantic alliance.

"In unity this alliance has ample strength to hold back the expansion of communism until such time as it loses its force and momentum," he said in his opening statement. "Acting alone neither the United States nor Europe could be certain of success and survival."

Dismissed

At the same time, the President dismissed as "peculiar" and unfounded a belief in some sections of Europe that the United States might not defend Western Europe if it does not get its way.

There may be some Western Europeans who feel that way, he said, but Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is not among them, and "I think he is right."

As for Meredith, the President said he would be "sorry" if the Negro student decides not to return to the University of Mississippi next semester. If Meredith should leave, he said, "it would be a loss not only to Mr. Meredith but also to the University of Mississippi."

Highlights

Other highlights of the news conference:

—Kennedy said the first priority was to get action this year on his tax cut program. He said it was "very important" to have action on both the tax reduction and reform, but he assigned greatest importance to rapid action.

—He said disarmament negotiations now going on in Washington should continue to "see if we can make a breakthrough" on a nuclear test ban.

First Step

—Asked whether he thinks France and Red China should be included in the negotiations for a nuclear test ban treaty, Kennedy said the "first step is to see whether Britain and America can work out an effective treaty with the Soviet Union."

—He said he hoped reason would prevail soon in the New York newspaper strike and that the two sides could reach a compromise agreement which they must ultimately come to anyway.

—He said he hoped Congress would reconsider its 1962 ban on "most favored nation" trade agreements with Communist Poland and Yugoslavia. He said the legislation enacted last year denied the executive an opportunity to deal with changing conditions and called this action "unwise."

—He said he did not think the United States was placing too much reliance on the submarine-carried Polaris nuclear missile as a deterrent weapon. He said this country also maintains Minuteman and Titan landbased missiles and still has bombers and planes based in Europe. These, along with the Polaris, give the free world "very adequate assurance" of protection against any possible enemy attack, he said.

—The President disclosed that he plans to recommend to Congress a liberalization of the nation's immigration system. He said the proposals would deal particularly with the redistribution of unused quotas.

Machinists' Union Sets Boeing Strike

Seattle (UPI)—Union machinists Thursday called a Saturday strike against Boeing Co. installations from Cape Canaveral to the West Coast, threatening production of the nation's prime intercontinental ballistic missile—the Minuteman.

It was expected, however, that the government would seek an injunction under the Taft-Hartley Act providing for an 80-day cooling off period before the strike could go into effect.

President Kennedy set the stage for the injunction by naming a special board of inquiry Wednesday night to look into the issues of the strike. In appointing the board, the President said, "Any interruption of the production of aircraft, missiles or space craft . . . would be a serious threat to this nation's defense effort."

Besides the Minuteman, Boeing produces military and civil aircraft.

The executive board of the International Association of Machinists (IAM) scheduled the strike to begin at 12:01 a.m. local time Saturday at 7 major Boeing plants throughout the nation.

The presidential board of inquiry looked into the issues in the dispute Thursday and the chairman said a report would be submitted to Kennedy Friday morning, a day before the strike affecting 40,000 was set to begin.

Kennedy named a panel of 3 experts on industrial relations shortly after members of the Aero Mechanics Union, an affiliate of IAM, voted overwhelmingly Wednesday to reject Boeing's final contract offer.

Your Income Tax

TAX PLAN UNVEILED

. . . Cuts Sought By JFK Would Average 18% By 1965

Washington (AP) — President Kennedy unwrapped Thursday a tax program aimed at cutting everyone's bill an average of 18% by 1965 but hedged with revisions certain to mingle groans with the cheers.

The big package Kennedy sent to a lukewarm Congress would reduce taxes a net of 39% at the bottom of the income scale and 9% at the top over a 3-year span.

But what he termed the most thorough overhaul of tax rates in more than 20 years was geared to such revolutionary changes in the system as a 5% income floor on itemized deductions.

Limit Deductions

Some 25 million taxpayers now ignore the standard deductions written into tax tables and detail expenses such as interest and state levies which may be taken off their taxable income. Itemized deductions have been averaging 20% of taxable income. Kennedy recommended limiting deductions to the amount they exceed 5% of income subject to tax.

If Congress installs the 5% floor, he estimated, the government would gain an additional $2.3 billion of revenue — or the major chunk of the $3.4 billion anticipated from his entire series of proposed revisions.

On the plus side for low income taxpayers, Kennedy recommended a minimum standard deduction of $300. He preferred this to an increase in the present $600 personal exemption. For persons 65 and older, he proposed replacing the present double exemption and retirement income allowance with a $300 credit against taxes owed. He said "this would be of far greater value" to all older citizens except those in high brackets.

The President advocated major changes in the current treatment of capital gains, which he described as "both inequitable and a barrier to economic growth." He introduced a formula that would shave the maximum rate from 25% to 19.5 and start the scale at 4.2% instead of 10. He also would require the holding of assets for at least a year — not 6 months as at present— to qualify for the lower rate on long-term capital gains.

The President decided against proposing a direct slash in the depletion allowances granted mineral operators, allowances that permit oil and gas producers to avoid levies on up to 27.5% of taxable income. By a less direct route, on which he still is sure to meet resistance, he sought to cure what he termed "uninteded defects" in tax privileges afforded mineral industries that represent $300 million in revenue.

These were among the features — and there were many — of a 12,500-word message Kennedy sent Congress to spell out the ingredients of a tax program he previously had outlined broadly in terms of totals. The big figures changed slightly with the details —to over-all reductions of $13.6 billion yearly and revisions pulling in an additional $3.4 billion.

Interdependent

Kennedy declared emphatically that reductions and revisions are interdependent. He said his proposals were designed to cut taxes "no more than" the net of $10.2 billion when the program became fully effective in 1965.

If Congress scraps any of the revisions — and some are so sensitive to significant taxpayer groups and special interests that they are not likely to survive intact — he said the revenue would have to be made up by "sacrifices" elsewhere in the overall program.

Anticipating opposition from critics of the $11.9-billion revenue hole in his $98.8-billion budget for 1963-64, Kennedy rejected the idea of trying to stimulate the economy through massive government spending. But he asserted:

"It would be a grave mistake to require that any tax reduction today be offset by a corresponding cut in expenditures."

Would Shrink

Jobs and output would shrink as government contracts were cut back, he said.

Only two days ago chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee, the group which actually will write tax legislation for all of Congress to debate, said tax reduction would be healthy for the country but should be preceded by efforts to balance the budget.

Kennedy repeated his argument that tax reduction would invigorate a slackening economy and in a few years broaden the tax base to a point where lower rates actually would produce more revenue and achieve a budget surplus.

Then he told how his plan would affect individuals and corporations.

Do It Quickly

For this year, he proposed a rate schedule ranging from 18.5 to 84.5%, down from the present scale of 20 to 91%. Upon enactment — and he said it should be done quickly to create the climate for economic growth — withholding rates would drop from the present level of 18% to 15.5.

In computing tax bills, the lower schedule would apply to the entire calendar year. Thus for accounting purposes the cuts would reflect a starting date of Jan. 1, which Kennedy had abandoned in favor of July 1. For practical purposes, however, taxpayers will benefit by no more than the originally contemplated total cut of $2.8 billion for 1963 and they won't begin to enjoy it until Congress has acted.

For 1964 the President recommended chopping the low bracket rate to 15.5% in a schedule graduated up to 71.5%. The withholding rate would dip to 13.5% on July 1, 1964.

Final Decrease

For 1965 he proposed the final decrease, a scale of 14 to 65%. Withholding would remain at 13.5%.

By that time a married couple with two dependents having taxable income of $5,000 and taking the standard deduction would find its tax cut from the present $420 to $296. If the same couple itemized deductions, a typical return as sketched by the Treasury would show a drop from $300 at present to $245.

The Treasury prepared other examples for a married taxpayer with two dependents and typical itemized deductions. With adjusted gross income of $10,000 from wages and salaries, his bill would decrease from $1,196 to $1,014. With $20,000 it would drop from $3,410 to $2,952. With $100,000 from investments as well as salary, it would drop from $37,560 to $32,436.

Feel Sting

The $100,000 income man would feel the sting of one of Kennedy's proposed changes in the tax structure—repeal of the $50 dividend exclusion and 4% credit against dividend income above $50. If Congress should balk at this, Kennedy said rate reductions in the middle and upper brackets should be trimmed to produce an additional $460 million. He estimated this would raise the peak rate from the 65% in his program to 70%.

At the other end of the scale, Kennedy figured the ultimate 14% rate on the first $2,000 of taxable income for married couples filing joint returns and the first $1,000 for single taxpayers would bring about a 30% cut. And he said the entire taxable income of one-third of all taxpayers falls in this bracket.

Combining effects of reductions and revisions, the Treasury estimated these savings by income groups:

Income subject to tax up to $3,000—39%; $3,000 to $5,000—28%; $5,000 to $10,000—21%; $10,000 to $20,000—15%; $20,000 to $50,000—12%; $50,000 and over—9%.

It averages out to 18%.

Decrease

Personal income taxes would decrease a net of $8.6 billion, with reductions of $11 billion being offset by revisions bringing in an extra $2.4 billion. Corporation taxes would decrease a net of $2.4 billion. Capital gains would increase $800 million for the over-all effect of a $10.2-billion revenue loss. And that would be further offset by Treasury windfalls of $1.5 billion until 1969 by speeding the collection of corporate income taxes.

As announced in his economic message, Kennedy suggested reversing the present corporate rates to 22% on the first $25,000 and 30% above $25,000 this year. Small business would be the chief beneficiary. Of the country's 585,000 corporations, more than 450,000 realize annual net income of not less than $25,000.

In 1964 the surtax on earnings over $25,000 would drop to 28% and in 1965 drop to the final 25%. At that point the combined rate on corporations would be 47% instead of the 52% adopted during the Korean War.

Hardship Relief

Under the heading of relief from hardship and encouragement of growth. Kennedy made these proposals in addition to a minimum standard deduction and tax credit for older people:

—Increasing the $600 deduction for expenses of working mothers, widowers and others who have to arrange for care of their children to $900 when two children are involved and $1,000 for 3 or more. Raising from $4,500 to $7,000 the income which families with working wives can receive and stay eligible for the deduction. Elevating the age limit of children who qualify from 11 to 12. The revenue loss would be $20 million.

—Authors, artists, athletes, actors and others whose income jumps sporadically would average it over a period of years.

—The extra 10% deduction now allowed for charitable contributions to churches, educational institutions and medical facilities would be extended to such publicly supported organizations as symphony orchestras and cultural centers.

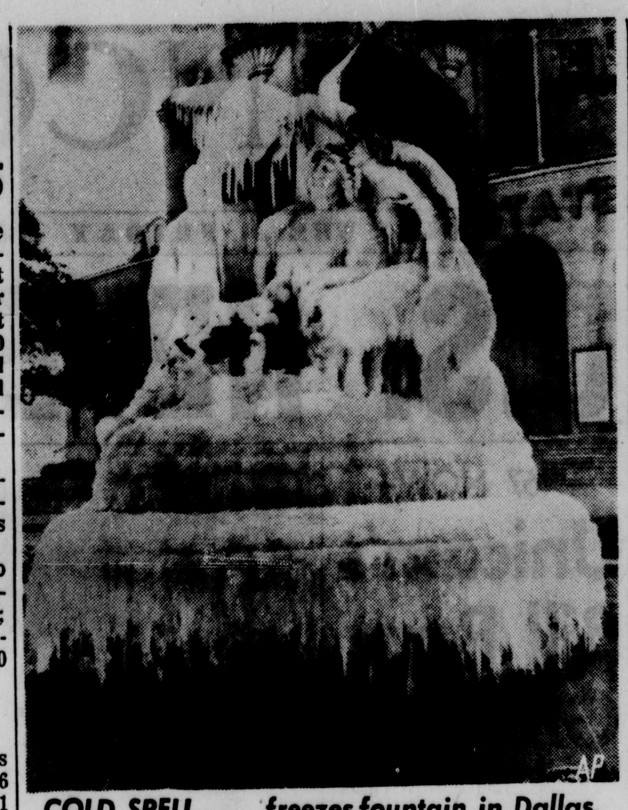

Moving Costs

—New as well as existing employes could exclude money received for costs of moving to a new job location.

—Expenses for machinery and equipment used in research and development could be deducted.

Kennedy placed his recommended floor on itemized deduction sin the category of broadening the tax base and correcting inequities. He also proposed:

—Combining similar floors now limiting medical deductions. The 3% for medical expenses and 1% for drugs would be lumpted together. Persons over 65 already exempt from the 3% floor on medical expenses would also be exempt from the present 1% on drugs. And the maximum on medical deductions would be removed.

ESTES GIVEN 8-YEAR TERM

Tyler, Tex. (AP) — Dapper, church-going Billie Sol Estes, whose financial pyramid crashed with a jolt felt in Washington and Wall Street, heard a state judge sentence him to 8 years in prison Thursday.

Estes' lawyers gave notice of appeal and the one-time promoter walked free under $5,000 bond supplied by his father and a brother.

He answered "no comment" to reporters' questions.

It is the only time Estes, 38, has been sentenced since federal authorities jailed him on fraud charges March 30 last year. He has been indicted numerous times.

He specifically drew the sentence, imposed by a jury two months ago, for swindling T. J. Wilson, a Pecos, Tex., farmer, of $94,500.

Judge Otis Dunagan formally pronounced sentence Thursday after denying a motion for a new trial.

The state claimed Estes induced Wilson to sign a mortgage for fertilizer tanks which never existed, and that Estes sold the mortgage to a lending company and pocketed the money.

A similar charge — brought by the U.S. government — caused Estes' collapse in March.

Estes, a short, sturdy man who dresses impeccably, is scheduled to be tried on that federal case March 11 in El Paso.

He is under indictment in Amarillo on state anti-trust charges, and under federal indictment in Dallas on charges of false swearing to the Commodity Credit Corp. No date has been set for trials in the anti-trust and false swearing cases.

Worst Cold Wave Of Century Strikes

By United Press International

A brutal cold wave, one of the worst of the century, Thursday engulfed the Southland, poured across the Atlantic seaboard and all but immobilized the North in a deep freeze and snow drifts up to 15 feet high.

History-making low temperatures spread death and suffering from the Great Lakes to the Gulf Coast and the Rockies to the East Coast.

The toll of deaths blamed on the weather since the Arctic blast swirled out of Canada last weekend soared past the 150 mark and kept climbing.

Schools Shut

Tens of millions of persons suffered in the bone-chilling, life-crippling cold. Agricultural losses soared. Industry was hobbled. Thousands of schools shut down from Iowa to Pennsylvania and deep into Dixie.

The Weather Bureau said the nation's official low was 22 below zero at Williston, N.D. But that didn't start to tell the story. Unofficial readings in the south included 30 below at Kingston Springs, Tenn., 26 below at Somerset, Ky., and 24 below in the Great Smoky Mountains of North Carolina.

A 12-below temperature at Charleston, W.Va., was the second coldest ever recorded there. At Pensacola, Florida's 10-degree reading was the lowest ever recorded there in January and the lowest since 1899.

Atlanta residents shivered in minus-3 temperature, the coldest there since the turn of the century.

All-Time Records

All-time records for the 20th century were set at Akron, Ohio, -21; Cleveland, -21; Lexington, Ky., -21; Louisville, -20; Bowling Green, Ky., -19; Pittsburgh, -19.

Other record lows included 16 below at Indianapolis, 12 below at Detroit, 10 below at Buffalo.

The weather story was a story of suffering. Thousands of persons went without heat at Montgomery, Ala., when a gas feeder line sprang a leak. Pullman passengers were stranded for 5 hours in unheated cars in Chicago rail yards. The Chicago Motor Club cut its services to the bone because most of its emergency workers were suffering from frostbite. Frozen equipment delayed New York City commuters in 5-above-zero temperatures.

Europe Suffering Killing Chill

Rome (AP) — A costly and killing cold wave spread more death and damage across Europe Thursday, piling misery on misery from the Baltic to the Bosporus.

From communist Bulgaria, buried in a yard of snow, came reports that indicated a major disaster in the making. West Germany's rivers and canals were frozen solid, creating critical transportation and fuel supply problems.

Yugoslav industries were closing. Italian and Greek villages by the hundreds were isolated. Schools were shut all across the continent. Snow and ice blocked trains for hours — even days. Mediterranean shipping fought blizzards, huge seas and icy ports.

Southern Europe, normally shielded by the Alps, seemed to be suffering most.

By a strange fluke, Thursday was the warmest day so far this year in Moscow — 14 above (F) — and sometimes sunny Italy was in the grip of its deepest freeze since 1929. Milan registered 5 above and in much of the rest of Italy it was just as cold. Snow piled high in the citrus orchards of palm-fringed Sicily.

The bitter winter so far has been blamed for nearly 200 deaths: the Netherlands 20, Germany 18, Austria 6, Yugoslavia 25, Italy 23, Greece 3. British authorities said no overall toll has been kept of deaths due exclusively to weather conditions but they estimated the figure at more than 100. The Italian and Greek deaths occurred since Sunday.

Fuel and power shortages were becoming acute in many areas. West Germany was making plans to move fuel instead of crude oil through the Rotterdam-Rhine pipeline to get around frozen rivers and canals.

Bulgarian radio reported road and rail lines cut by a raging blizzard, with fuel and food supplies becoming dangerously low.

Louisiana Dock Men Sign Up

New York (UPI) — Longshoremen and shippers came to terms in New Orleans Thursday leaving the end of the $825 million dock strike hanging on negotiations at two smaller Gulf Coast ports.

Union leaders were trying to get cargo and ships moving by Saturday.

The settlement at New Orleans, second largest port in the nation ranking only behind New York, came as stevedores along the Atlantic Coast voted overwhelmingly to get back to work.

Local Issues

At Mobile, Ala., and Galveston, Tex., local issues stood in the way of agreement on the contract proposed by a special presidential panel headed by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore.

The two sides still were so "far apart" in Galveston that Ralph Massey, International Longshoremen's Association (ILA) president for the south Atlantic and Gulf Coast districts, asked for help from Washington.

The situation was brighter in Mobile. Federal mediator John Andress said the two sides appeared close to settlement, and the agreement in New Orleans should help matters in Mobile.

75-Year-Old Man Camping Out On River

Ellinwood, Kan. (AP) — A 75-year-old man, Dusty Rhodes, is camping out on the Arkansas River north of here and doing right well, despite the below zero readings.

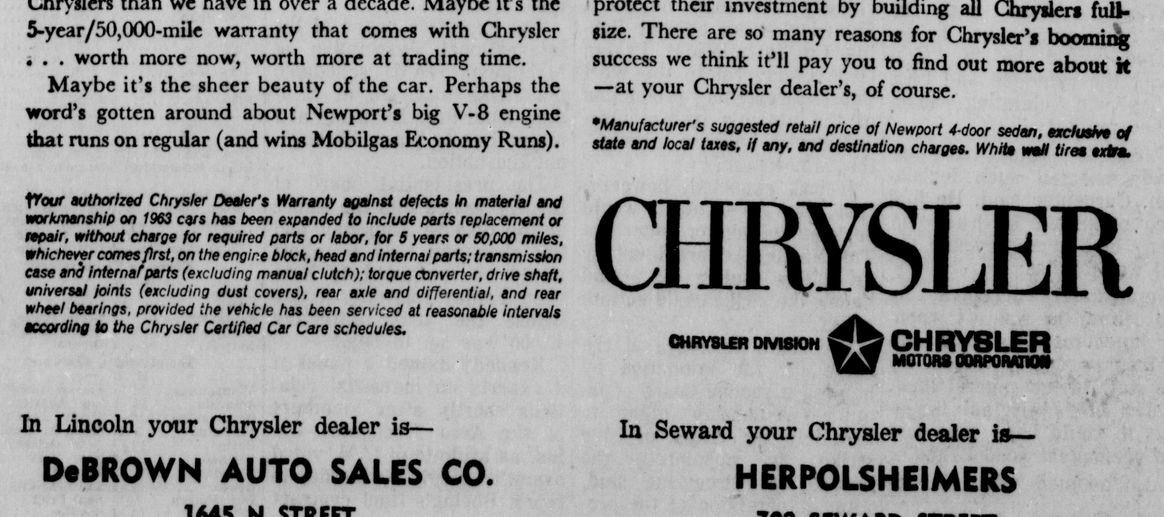

Dusty has no house, or even shelter. He has 5 feather mattresses, using two for a bed and 3 for cover. For a wind break he stretches an old rug between two trees. His fire is an open affair, shielded by a piece of metal.

Rhodes is eligible for county aid but won't accept it. He once lived in the county home, but the confinement and routine didn't agree with him. He collects his food from the city dump and sometimes friends add to the larder. He is a retired sign painter.

One of his possessions is a thermometer.

"The other morning," he told Tom Zan Vrimmer, a Tribune reporter, "it got down to 12 below but I just stayed in bed until it warmed up to zero."

"It's a miserable trip from bed to the fireplace to light the fire each morning," he added.

Wise way to get a full-size Chrysler and a 5-year/50,000-mile warranty†

So many value-wise people are buying a full-size Chrysler, with prices that start at $2964, that we're selling more Chryslers than we have in over a decade. Maybe it's the 5-year/50,000-mile warranty that comes with Chrysler . . . worth more now, worth more at trading time.

Maybe it's the sheer beauty of the car. Perhaps the word's gotten around about Newport's big V-8 engine that runs on regular (and wins Mobilgas Economy Runs).

Or, it could be that many new Chrysler owners take pride in the fact that there are no jr. edition Chryslers . . . we protect their investment by building all Chryslers full-size. There are so many reasons for Chrysler's booming success we think it'll pay you to find out more about it —at your Chrysler dealer's, of course.

*Manufacturer's suggested retail price of Newport 4-door sedan, exclusive of state and local taxes, if any, and destination charges. White wall tires extra.

†Your authorized Chrysler Dealer's Warranty against defects in material and workmanship on 1963 cars has been expanded to include parts replacement or repair, without charge for required parts or labor, for 5 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first, on the engine block, head and internal parts; transmission case and internal parts (excluding manual clutch); torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints (excluding dust covers), rear axle and differential, and rear wheel bearings, provided the vehicle has been serviced at reasonable intervals according to the Chrysler Certified Car Care schedules.

Minister Urges Realtors To Help Battle Discrimination

A Lincoln minister Thursday night urged local realtors to support legislation prohibiting discrimination in home buying and a realtor said the discrimination problem is a community problem, not a problem for realtors.

The Rev. Charles Stephen of the Lincoln Unitarian Church, speaking at a Council of Churches "Forum on Community Needs," said that "if realtors are being candid about their fear of community pressure . . . they should be in the forefront of any attempt" to get city or state legislation prohibiting discrimination."

Real estate dealers' "unwritten rule that no one will be the first to break this discriminatory practice puts them in the position of not wanting to do anything for the first time," the Rev. Mr. Stephen said.

Harry McClellan, a member of the Lincoln Board of Realtors, countered that "it would be a great relief to the backers of a crusade to hand their flag to realtors and say 'You take it over the trenches first.' "

"You and your neighbors and your friends" are responsible for discriminatory practices, McClellan told the audience, because "the seller controls conditions of sale." In answer to a questioner who said a real estate agent had declined to participate in sale of a property to a Negro although the seller was willing, McClellan said the agent "was forgetful of his code of ethics."

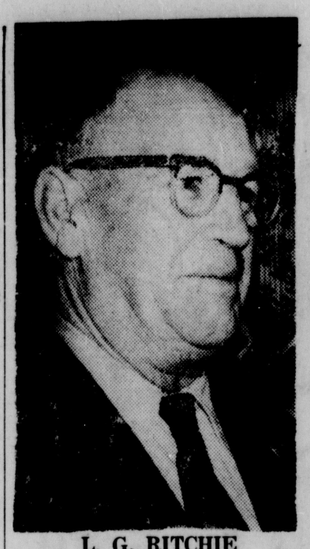

Other members of the panel, moderated by City Councilman Lloyd Hinkley, included Herbert Heumann, who reported on the activities of Modern Community Developers in building a racially-integrated subdivision; Richard Gilbert, who reported on the Action Coordinating Team project to find housing for minority race families, and the Rev. Carl Davidson, pastor of First Methodist Church.

Nuernberger Speaks

The forum, which followed a dinner and business meeting of the Lincoln Council of Churches, also heard Juvenile Judge W. W. Nuernberger describe the need for foster homes for children under the jurisdiction of the juvenile court, the county welfare department and the state.

"We could now use 30 foster homes" Judge Nuernberger said, asking the audience to "spread the word that there is a need."

The midwinter delegate assembly of the Council of Churches heard reports on council activities and approved a proposal to share equally with the Nebraska Council of Churches the administrative budget of the combined office of the two organizations.

L. G. RITCHIE

Ritchie Given Award For Aid To Youth

L. G. Ritchie, retired postal employe, Thursday noon was presented the Lincoln Sertoma Club "Service to Mankind Award" for his work with Lincoln youth.

Ritchie's service to the welfare of boys, chiefly through the Lincoln YMCA, has continued for more than 30 years.

In addition to his work in the promotion and organization of neighborhood clubs for boys, he spends many summer weeks camping with the youths at one of the YMCA camps.

He also keeps a workshop in his home where boys can visit, and has instructed swimming at Y camps.

Hanson Qualifies Backing Of Primary Date Change

Democratic State Chairman Russell Hanson Thursday qualified his support of a bill before the Legislature which seeks to change state primary elections from May to September and provides for the selection of delegates to national conventions by state party conventions.

The bill is LB432, introduced this week by Sen. Marvin E. Stromer of Lincoln.

Hanson noted Thursday he had originally supported changing the primary date, but said when it was brought to his attention the bill also proposes that all delegates to national conventions be selected by party conventions he felt he could not support it entirely.

Amendment Proposed

"In keeping with the Democratic philosophy of including the people in the selection of their government, I would have to propose that the bill be amended to allow voters to elect district delegates to the national conventions," Hanson said. "I believe it would be appropriate to have state conventions select delegates-at-large.

"I firmly believe, however, that district delegates should be elected by the people and that candidates for such election should be required to declare their presidential preference and that it be so stated on the ballot," Hanson continued.

"Since national conventions usually are held in July, it would be necessary to hold state primary elections in June in presidential years in order that the people could elect the district delegates," he continued.

Hanson said he certainly would endorse holding primary elections in September in off-presidential years, but believes they should be changed to June in presidential years to give the people a chance to express their presidential preferences.

FCC Hearing Opposed By Legislators

Members of the Nebraska Legislature made it plain Thursday they look with extreme disfavor on the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) investigation into Omaha television programming.

They voted 39-0 in favor of a resolution objecting to the investigation.

The FCC hearings dealing with stations WOW-TV, KMTV and KETV will open Monday in Omaha.

Sen. William Moulton of Omaha introduced the resolution. The rules were suspended on a 34-0 vote so that immediate action could be taken on the resolution, instead of having it laid over for one day.

'Unwarranted Intrusion'

The resolution said the Legislature registers "strong opposition to the scheduling of this public hearing without just cause or reason, believing that this action constitutes an unwarranted intrusion by the federal government into the freedom of broadcasting, and the affairs of the citizens of this sovereign state."

It praised the "outstanding" service provided by the 3 television stations "and the broadcast media generally of this state."

"I think it is high time this Legislature gets up on its hind feet and tells the federal government what it is doing in this area," Moulton said. "There have been no complaints about Omaha television programming. It's high time we tell the federal government it is not welcomed in Omaha."

Copies of the resolution will be sent to President Kennedy, Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy, and all FCC officials.

4 Growing Up Jobs Challenge Teenagers Of Any Era—Pope

"Teenagers today just as those of any era are faced with 4 growing up jobs or developmental tasks," a federal Extension specialist in human relations told 300 persons attending the state 4-H leaders conference.

Ed Pope spoke at the annual 4-H leaders conference which continues through Friday afternoon at the University of Nebraska Center for Continuing Education. Those attending represent 4-H leaders in every Nebraska county.

Pope listed these "growing up tasks" which all teenagers face:

—"The need to be accepted in one's own age group which includes learning the manners and behavior appropriate to teenagers as compared to children.

—"Developing new and more grown-up ways of living with other adults, primarily parents. This includes taking responsibility for one's own decisions, but at the same time not separating one's self from adult guidance which constitutes the 'tightrope' which teenagers must walk.

—"Choosing one's life work or career. This is particularly important for both boys and girls. An increasing number of women work after marriage, so that the average girl today can look forward to 25 years of paid employment. The tremendous growth in job opportunities in many fields makes it increasingly difficult for both girls and boys to choose careers.

—"Developing a philosophy of life or set of values which will guide one's self in using energies and talents for those things one considers worthwhile. There are so many sets of values floating around these days, that it is difficult for the teenager to think them through and select those which are more worthwhile than others. When one does select certain values over others, this gives a sense of direction in life and eventually a philosophy of life."

Leaders heard the comments of teenagers today at a panel discussion. Those taking part in the discussion included Bob Van DeWalle of Cedar Rapids; Connie Holmstedt, Sutherland; Gary Ossenkop of Walton; and Merna Roeder of Waverly. Dr. Duane Loewenstein state leader of studies and training at the University and Edward Pope of the federal Extension Service served as moderator and recorder, respectively.

The annual banquet was held Thursday night featuring an address by F. Clark Elkins, president of Chadron State Teachers College. Nebraska's 4-H alumni winners in 1962 were honored. They include: Dr. Elkins, John Rhodes, Beatrice, Mrs. Gladys Stout, Winnebago; and Mrs. John Cromer, Gering.

FIRE DAMAGES HOME

Extensive damage resulted Thursday night when a fire broke out in the basement at 1943 Euclid, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Nydeger and their 3 sons. The family was away at the time and the smoke was first noticed by a neighbor, Mrs. Robert Colbert of 1935 Euclid, who called the fire department. Firemen said the flames burned out some rafters in the basement ceiling, extended up a stairway to the kitchen, and also came up through the hot air registers into the living room, setting a couch afire. Smoke and fire damage to the home's contents was estimated at approximately $1,000. No estimate other than in excess of $150 was available on damage to the building itself. (Star Photo)

Collision Kills Nebraska City FHA Director

Nebraska City (AP)—William L. Owens, Farm and Home Administration supervisor in the Nebraska City area, was killed Thursday in a car-truck crash.

The accident occurred 4 miles west of Nebraska City on Nebraska 2.

Ray Frana, his assistant, was with Owens. Frana was injured.

Car Skidded

Witnesses said Owens, in his 50s, was driving when the car skidded across the highway and was in collision with an eastbound semi-trailer truck driven by Floyd Hobb Sr. of North Platte.

Owen had been exalted ruler of the Elks Lodge in Nebraska City and was active in civic affairs. He is survived by his wife and a daughter, Beverly, who teaches in Omaha.

The death was Nebraska's 17th traffic fatality of the year, one more than on the same date a year ago.

County Solons Put 3 Changes In Remapping

Three changes have been incorporated into Lancaster County's legislative reapportionment plan, Lancaster senators announced Thursday.

The plan—redistricting the county from 3 districts to 5—is now considered final.

The major change is to move the boundary lines of 3 districts—the 26th, 28th and 29th—one mile east. It extends the districts from 84th to what would be about 96th St.

Two other alterations eliminate jogs and substitute generally straight lines for the boundary down the center of Lincoln between the 26th, 28th and 29th on the east and the 25th and 27th on the west.

Changes were made to adjust for a more equitable future population growth.

Ford Believes FCC Stepping Out Of Bounds

Washington (UPI)—Federal Communication Commissioner Fred Ford has stated his opposition to ECC plans to hold local hearings on the likes and dislikes of television viewers.

Ford, who was one of 3 commissioners who voted against a recent FCC decision to hold a hearing in Omaha on television programming, stated his position. He spoke before the National Religious Broadcasters Association.

Ford said the FCC was "stepping out of bounds" in such local hearings.

While not mentioning the Omaha hearing by name, he said the FCC has instructed broadcasters to conduct a continuing survey of the listening and viewing needs of their communities.

If the FCC now holds local hearings on the same subject, he said, "We are doing what he (the broadcaster) should do. We should see that he does it, not to do it for him."

Preliminary Approval Is Granted To LB13

The Legislature Thursday gave preliminary approval to LB13 providing for the assessment of improvements on real estate belonging to the lessee.

Under the measure, the owner of the improvements would have to file with the county assessor on or before Jan. 1 of each year a list of all such property.

City Offices Available, But Candidates Scarce

With filing deadline less than two months away, no candidates have yet tossed their hats in the ring for full-time mayor, City Council, Board of Education or Airport Authority.

Candidates for these offices must file with the election commissioner by 5 p.m. March 20.

Filing must include a petition signed by 100 registered voters. Petition blanks are obtainable from the election commissioner. There is a $10 filing fee for city offices, none for school board.

April 9 Primary

Candidates for full-time mayor, 4 City Council seats, two school board terms and 3 Airport Authority posts will be nominated in the April 9 primary election. The general election is May 7.

The full-time mayor will be elected for a 4-year term at $15,000 annually.

Mayor D. L. Tyrrell, now serving by interim appointment, will not be a candidate for mayor, but may be a candidate for council.

Four councilmen will be elected to 4-year terms, including one to the 7th seat created under the full-time mayor plan.

Councilwoman Helen Bosalis has indicated she will seek re-election, but the two other incumbents, C. Robert Fulton and Al DuTeau (both serving by appointment), are not expected to seek new terms.

Carryover councilmen are John Comstock, Lloyd Hinkley and Edward A. Becker.

3 Airport Terms

Three terms on the Lincoln Airport Authority will be up for election.

Charles Stuart, Frederick L. Eiche and Robert Phillips are the incumbent authority members whose terms are expiring.

Two new members of the Board of Education will be elected. Board term is 6 years.

Robert C. Venner and Mrs. Roscoe Hill, whose terms are expiring, have stated they will not be candidates for re-election. They both have served terms totaling 18 years on the board.

Bethany Collision Injures Gorham

Thomas J. Gorham, 35, of 7130 Eastborough Lane, was injured Thursday night when his car was in collision at 70th and Leighton Ave. with an auto driven by Paul R. Winscot, 61, of 1043 So. 32nd, police said.

Officer Hollis Jennings said Gorham suffered cuts above his right eye and an injured right knee in the mishap, but did not immediately go to a hospital.

Jennings said Gorham told him he saw the Winscot auto and tried to stop but was unable to do so on the slick pavement.

Cuba Won't Rest

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

That communist Cuba is a thorn in the side of most citizens of this nation is a fact that hardly needs to be stated. Our displeasure over the situation was again apparent in congressional discussion of what is reported to be a new buildup of arms in the island off the shores of Florida. And this is only one of the matters of interest to people in regard to the Castro stronghold.

The Republican party has decided to engage in a thorough investigation of the 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion of Cuba. While the GOP grants conception of the invasion plan under the administration of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, it is suspicious that execution of the plan was badly handled by the administration of President John F. Kennedy. What might be gained with such an investigation is questionable but insight into the current military building in Cuba is a matter of immediate importance. Congress may well feel that the administration is not about to take the legislative branch into confidence over the troubled Caribbean waters.

Probe Into Invasion

While Congress is becoming more and more exercised, the administration continues to issue calm, cool and collected reports. The feeling in Congress seems to be that the situation is tense, at the best, while the administration states there is nothing to be alarmed about.

The last Cuban crisis would tend to lend support to either side according to whom one chooses to believe. Some members of Congress still maintain that the nuclear buildup which led to the successful blockade of Cuba was known well in advance of the time any action was taken by this nation. The administration, however, has carefully documented a story of nuclear buildup only in the week preceding the final blockade decision.

Discussion today is not over a strict nuclear buildup. It has to do with modern arms of conventional warfare. Some of these, of course, such as advanced aircraft and water vessels, are capable of delivering nuclear missiles if such missiles and their warheads were available to the Cubans. A conventional arsenal in Cuba would obviously not be as great a threat to this nation as a nuclear buildup. It is the present position of the administration that the rate of military activity in Cuba today and its nature can be classed as defensive. There are considerations which would seem to support the administration in the absence of reliable intelligence reports to the contrary.

Past experience with Cuba would lead one to believe that the administration is not about to be burned again. The issue being what it is in this nation, the administration could be expected to have Cuban activities under a virtual microscope. Any other condition would be a mark of complete irresponsibility which the known facts do not justify. The next question, then, is whether the administration is telling all it knows about Cuba. This is a highly uncertain thing since the administration has been free with the manipulation of news when it has seen fit to be so. With such news manipulation, we could be lulled to sleep one minute and shaken out of our boots the next by events in almost any part of the world.

This is a no-confidence role that the administration has fashioned for itself and with which it will be forced to live until it demonstrates an attitude to the contrary. If news is to be used as a tool of foreign policy, as administration spokesmen have said it is, then the tool is used on U.S. citizen as well as the rest of the world.

We cannot fool the Russians into one thing while telling our own people another thing. If we think it is vital to play cat and mouse with the Kremlin, we have no choice but to play the same game among ourselves. And such a game is naturally going to keep Congress on the edge of its chair as it never knows when the administration is speaking the truth or speaking for the benefit of impressing Russia with something.

The game is not one that has had to be so much a part of our national life in the past and we doubt that it is as important today as President Kennedy obviously believes it to be. It is this manipulation of the news and the uncertainty it creates in the minds of people that are as much responsible as anything for the current congressional uproar over military activities in Cuba. Beyond that point, Congress is logically concerned even over a defensive buildup of arms. The riddle in such a buildup is the points of the whole thing.

Handling Of News

Certainly Russia is not so naive as to believe that Cuba could actually be defended against a United States invasion if we decided to take such action. It would seem that such a buildup has some objective other than the defense of the island and it would be on the side of wisdom to determine what this objective is. Otherwise, we may be greatly surprised some day in the near future when events take place for which we are totally unprepared.

"You Think They Might Really Pull An Inspection?"

Less Bargaining Position

The cloud of mandatory acreage controls seemingly has passed over the "west 80" and the sunshine of voluntary federal farms programs has returned.

This was the essence of President Kennedy's recent treatment of the subject, confirmed by the announcement that Agriculture Secretary Freeman will ask for a continuation, with some modifications, of the present feed grain program, at least through 1964.

It was a prudent choice on the part of the administration, first because feed grain growers liked most of what they saw in the voluntary program and because it has made life more comfortable for the crop growers while reducing the federal surplus from 109 million tons to 98 million tons in two years. A mandatory program might have speeded the reduction, but it would have introduced evils that could have more than offset its gains.

In the President's further statement that while federal price supports must continue they must not pile more surpluses on top of the $7.5 billion the nation now owns, there is a formidable note, hinting that however much the producer wishes to bargain, the public outlay will have to go down. The strength that lies in that statement stems less from the presidential opinion than from a cooling attitude of a congress that derives instructions less and less from the rural areas than from the non-farm element.

The implication is that the farm problem is not as negotiable as it once was, and that the producer, himself, must take a greater initiative in bringing his supply in line with demand.

Government By Plebiscite

If all such proposals were passed, the current Legislature could well load the next statewide ballot with issues to be decided by the people. Two of the latest ideas call for a vote on Sunday closing laws and another on raising of the tax levy. If adopted by the Legislature and approved by the people, Sunday closing laws would be unconstitutional for the state.

If adopted by the Legislature and approved by the people, the raising of taxes under a broadened tax base would require a vote of the people each time. This proposal asks the voters to adopt a law saying that if we had a sales or income tax, neither could be raised without a vote of the people.

It seems from time to time that we have a mania for submitting things to a vote of the people. We frequently appear to have lost sight of the fact that the people elect representatives to act for them, not to bring back to them for decision every issue that has any element of controversy in it.

We could think of no more absurd proposal than a vote of the people on every increase in taxes. This would fit nicely with the ridiculous lid we have on state debt and just about fix for all time any chance of the state's taking care of the many problems it faces.

Outstate is already severely handicapped by our frequent use of the constitution as a legislative tool and by our inclination to take a vote of the people when we should be enacting laws. It is hoped that no one gives even serious consideration to the proposal that we obtain a statewide vote prior to any hike in taxes. It would be difficult to dream up any greater monstrosity than that.

Mexico Plays Ball

News is and must be a selective matter. But certainly a pending great forward step by Mexico deserved much more attention than it received.

The news is that the World Bank has started discussions on Mexico's Alliance for Progress program. It is no small item.

Mexico is envisioning a project which will take three years to unfold and will require an investment of $6.4 billion. It is by far the most ambitious Latin-American plan to be put forward under the principles of the Alliance. Since the World Bank has gone to work on it, it can be assumed that the U.S. has endorsed it and is ready to divert a portion of its foreign aid funds toward Mexico.

In brief the Mexican plan would spend in the neighborhood of $4 billion to expand industry, communications, transportation and agriculture. It will lay great stress on irrigation — 17.5 per cent — for reservoirs and canals calculated to convert a substantial amount of semi-arid and arid land into new and advanced sources for food. Some 25 per cent of the $6.4 billion is earmarked for social service projects.

Mexico's substantial response to the Kennedy administration invitation to participate in the Alliance for Progress is indeed heartening. In the first place, Mexico is our immediate neighbor. Second, it is already successfully committed to the modernization of its economy and social structure. Third, it has achieved national stability. And fourth, it is a leading member of the Latin American nations. Another fact is worth noting. Mexico has the resources required for the development of a strong modern state. Its progress will have an infectious influence on the rest of Latin America. The loan negotiations are ushering in a brighter day for the entire hemisphere.

Status Seekers Wasted Money

WASHINGTON—A good many Democrats who plunked down one thousand hard-earned simoleons at the exclusive fund-raising dinner last week vow they will never do it again.

It wasn't just the expenditure of $1,000 for a $10 meal that hurt their feelings. It was the fact that they got no status.

At the last minute, some anonymous manager in command of the dinner decided there were to be no place cards. Guests could sit wherever they chose. There was to be undiluted democracy.

This was something of a blow to out-of-town Democrats. Nor was it welcomed by local Democrats. Most of those who spent $1,000 were looking for status. Where they sat at dinner mattered a lot. So when it was announced that all could sit where they pleased, the guests stood, awkward and embarrassed, looking desperately for the right people.

The more they looked, the madder they got. Some finally found seatmates with status. Others kept seat-shopping so long that the dinner was delayed 45 minutes. And a few wouldn't sit down at all.

Said one irate Democrat as he stomped out: "You can take your ---- --- dinner and you know what you can do with it. You won't catch me here again!"

Sir Winston Churchill is preparing for his last sentimental journey to the United States, ostensibly to join ex-President Harry Truman in laying the cornerstone of a church at Fulton, Mo. It was here that he coined the phrase "Iron Curtain," in a a powerful anti-communist speech in 1946. Later, he became the No. 1 advocate of summit conferences and coined the phrase "at the summit." . . . Congressmen are being sounded out about making Churchill an honorary American citizen. This could have the beneficial side effect of heading off Churchill's threatened opposition to taking England into the European Common Market, an objective of American foreign policy . . . England may go ahead with the controversial Skybolt missile on her own. Sir Arthur Harvey, chairman of the Parliamentary Defense Committee, has been conferring with Douglas, the Skybolt manufacturer, about costs. Douglas, which was exposed by the Senate Rackets Committee for profiteering against Uncle Sam, apparently is not going to profiteer against John Bull. It has offered to deliver 100 Skybolts for only a fraction of what the Polaris undersea missles would cost.

GOP Switches Fire To Stop Brother Bob

WASHINGTON — That able political craftsman, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, has seized the opening afforded him when Attorney General Robert Kennedy reopened discussion of the ill-fated Bay of Pigs invasion of Cuba. Dirksen will make his own inquiry into what really happened.

What the senator quickly perceived was the fortuitous conjunction of a legitimate reason for inquiry and a handful of political targets.

The legitimate reason is the confusion over what really happened in Cuba both with respect to the original fiasco and the recent success. When the President opened the doors to favorite reporters for supposed "inside" accounts, he helped create that confusion and handed Republicans the managed news issue.

The attorney general has obliged them further by calling attention to the original fiasco which the later triumph had done so much to erase. It is also a personal political mistake on his part.

Republicans darkly suspect that he is being set up to run for President in 1968 to succeed his brother, and in that they are not alone. Dirksen is only the first of many who will seek to embarrass Robert Kennedy while there is yet time, the general opinion here being that it is too late to stop the President's re-election.

Merely to have any Kennedy on the firing line will soothe a lot of Republican frustration. Senator Edward is behaving much too modestly to serve the purpose, and it is politically unwise when foreign affairs seem to be going well to attack the President on that score.

☆ ☆ ☆

Republicans believe, maybe wrongly but sincerely, that in the wide area between the East and West Coasts many voters feel there are too many Kennedys. It is this area they look to for substantial gains in 1964 even should the winner-take-all framework of the electoral college re-elect the President.

Few would argue with Chairman J. W. Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations committee that the Dirksen proposal has a "very strong partisan aura." So will this entire session of Congress. To meet it the President will have to work unceasingly to spread his own aura, and he will need the help of some shock troops of Democrats willing to risk expending a reputation for the statesmanlike approach to all questions.

☆ ☆ ☆

There is, after all, a great deal of hypocrisy in the proposed inquiry. The White House always manages the news, more or less, and never so much as in the Eisenhower years when Press Secretary Jim Hagerty shaped the propaganda that his employer was a hard-working ball of fire despite age, operations and heart disease.

Adlai Stevenson must view the present carnage with a deep sense of irony. Saturday Evening Post Writer Stewart Alsop is still insisting that the U.N. ambassador was an appeaser in the Cuban triumph.

Bologna Capital Fails Guests

By MONA B. PARKER

Some Phelps County folks found themselves, unwillingly, in the nation's capital over the holidays just past. They made the best of it, however, in their dining habits and gathered together such delicacies as lutefisk, oostacacca and fruit soup. But one item had to be omitted from their menu, since a thorough check of all available shops failed to produce any.

In a place renowned for more collective bologna than perhaps any other spot on earth, there was not one ring of potato bologna to be found anywhere.

The Garden County News told of the inconvenience of being without gas when it is needed most. One farm wife near Oshkosh plugged in all the electric cooking utensils she could when the gas pressure went down at their farm home. She had toaster, electric frying pan, electric percolator and other appliances plugged into wall outlets and arrayed about the floor. The family just sat on the floor and ate, since that's where the food and the heat were. The youngsters thought it great fun, Japanese style, but with their own silverware, not chopsticks.

E. R. Montgomery tried such a simple solution to an old problem that his story can very well be believed. When he had the double doors of the Morrill Mail office painted, he didn't hang up a "Wet Paint" sign. John Carter is a man with a paper on his hands, The Clarks News, that he would like very much to see under able direction other than his own. He is understandably pleased with the readers' great faith in the ability of the editor and the durability of their home newspaper.

Mrs. Floyd Gorgen, columnist for the Mead neighborhood for the Central City Republican-Nonpareil, admits she is a bit prejudiced in the matter of old-fashioned pot-bellied stoves. She is so fond of her own that she moved it into the kitchen, and her description of its place there on a cold January evening is enough to send her readers out in search of one: "At this very moment it is solely responsible for turning this country kitchen into a haven of coziness and warmth. Five inches of snow on the ground outside, temperature down to 13 below zero and the north wind singing hallelujahs through the grove on the timberland, while my little old black pot-bellied stove pours out its crackling blaze of warmth and contentment, not even surpassed by the fluffy yellow kitten asleep in the basket on the brick hearth below." Her husband and boys, she adds, who saw the wood and empty the ashes, are just a little less enthusiastic than she.

Some of the subscribers have paid up two and three years in advance, and several have even been booked for five years ahead. "Guess they didn't realize that the present editor is old enough to draw Social Security," comments Mr. Carter.

All of us occasionally are "up to our ears" in this, that or the other thing, in a manner of speaking. However, Ed Kosmicki who works for the Farmers Feed and Grain at Sargent found himself up to his armpits in corn one day recently, and it was a harrowing experience he is not anxious to undergo again.

On top of a pile of corn in the firm's storage unit, he was jabbing a long pole through the corn, attempting to free an auger that runs along the floor. The auger started but so did he, down through the corn. He was buried in the grain nearly up to his shoulders for an hour before he was discovered and pulled out.

The Nance County Journal is of the opinion that the current session of the State Legislature may very well set some sort of record for number of bills introduced, if the present pace is any yardstick. The lack of value to a great many of the suggested bills seems to the Fullerton publication to be a "disgusting waste of time and effort."

"Surprised that someone hasn't introduced a bill to disallow the use of three-cornered fence posts along a highway right-of-way. A subject like that would undoubtedly make for some good pro and con arguments and waste a lot of valuable time."

First Needs First

Lincoln, Neb.

Noting the recent request by Mr. Mel Steen for a 2,500-acre park and a million dollars to spend in the next 10 years for its improvements, I would like to make a few statements.

I sm sure if God had intended Nebraska to be the recreation center of the United States, he would have created it so, such as He did in other parts of the country and Canada.

In these times when people are now taxed to the limit even though we are led to believe by camouflaged political propaganda that we enjoy the lowest taxes of any state in the Union, I am wondering if Mr. Steen wouldn't be just as happy with a shiny new sand box, a play suit and a great big box full of play money.

Nebraska needs things like a 2,500-acre park about like we need an atom bomb dropped on us. We have problems with our old folks, our youngsters, etc. which should be taken care of first. I saw three little youngsters one evening recently who had no mittens, no long stockings. One had no cap on her head and one had a coat on that was a summer coat which came only to her waist. I asked them where their winter clothing was and they said they didn't have any.

Now, Mr. Steen, are you sure you need your park?

Schools, Religion

Lincoln, Neb.

With regard to the recent stories concerning two parents' complaint to the Lincoln School Board stating that the school's Christmas practices constitute "an infringement . . . to instruct our children in the religion of our choice," may I remind these parents that Christmas is Christmas whether they recognize or accept its meaning. Regardless of their faith, religion, belief in dogmas or creeds, their children cannot be reared or educated today without being exposed to Christmas.

It may be true that formal instruction in religion cannot be given by the public agencies of education because such instruction would be sectarian. However, whether in the agencies of the church or those of the state, religion and education are seen as inseparable processes of life development. If education is really to develop a person, it must deal with them as lives. It must include, by some means, the range of motives, ideals, emotions, the habits and the will and all that determines character and conduct, and must be realized through persons intelligently governed by those ideals.

Education must include the elements that make for strength and ideals in character. Whether individuals, parents, educators or teachers are conscious or aware of it, or even want to admit it, the building of character is the real aim of the school. Schools must teach moral and spiritual values; they are an essential and vital part of education.

History is a part of the curriculum of the schools. Religion is history. Christianity is a religion—the most widespread and the most influential of the religions of mankind. And while the word "religion" has no one generally accepted definition, all religion requires recognition of the sacred. And Christmas is sacred.

To my knowledge, the schools have never forced a child to participate in any activity contrary to his faith. Participation is always optional. And furthermore, the child is not punished nor segregated if he does not participate. I am sure this was the case in the Meadow Lane School.

These parents are not afraid and have not hesitated to defend their beliefs. It is time for Christians to come to the front and defend their beliefs, their schools, their educators and administrators in such issues, for even with its recognized limitations, the public schools have not been indifferent to the child's need for religious education.

We cannot let young America lose its knowledge of faith nor the will to defend it. It is time for Christians to stand up and be counted.

Matter Of Choice

Lincoln, Neb.

I think the lady who objects to her children's being "subjected to religious indoctrination in their school" has a point and I believe that parents who share her view should be able to have their children excused from activities which, in their opinion, are "religious indoctrination."

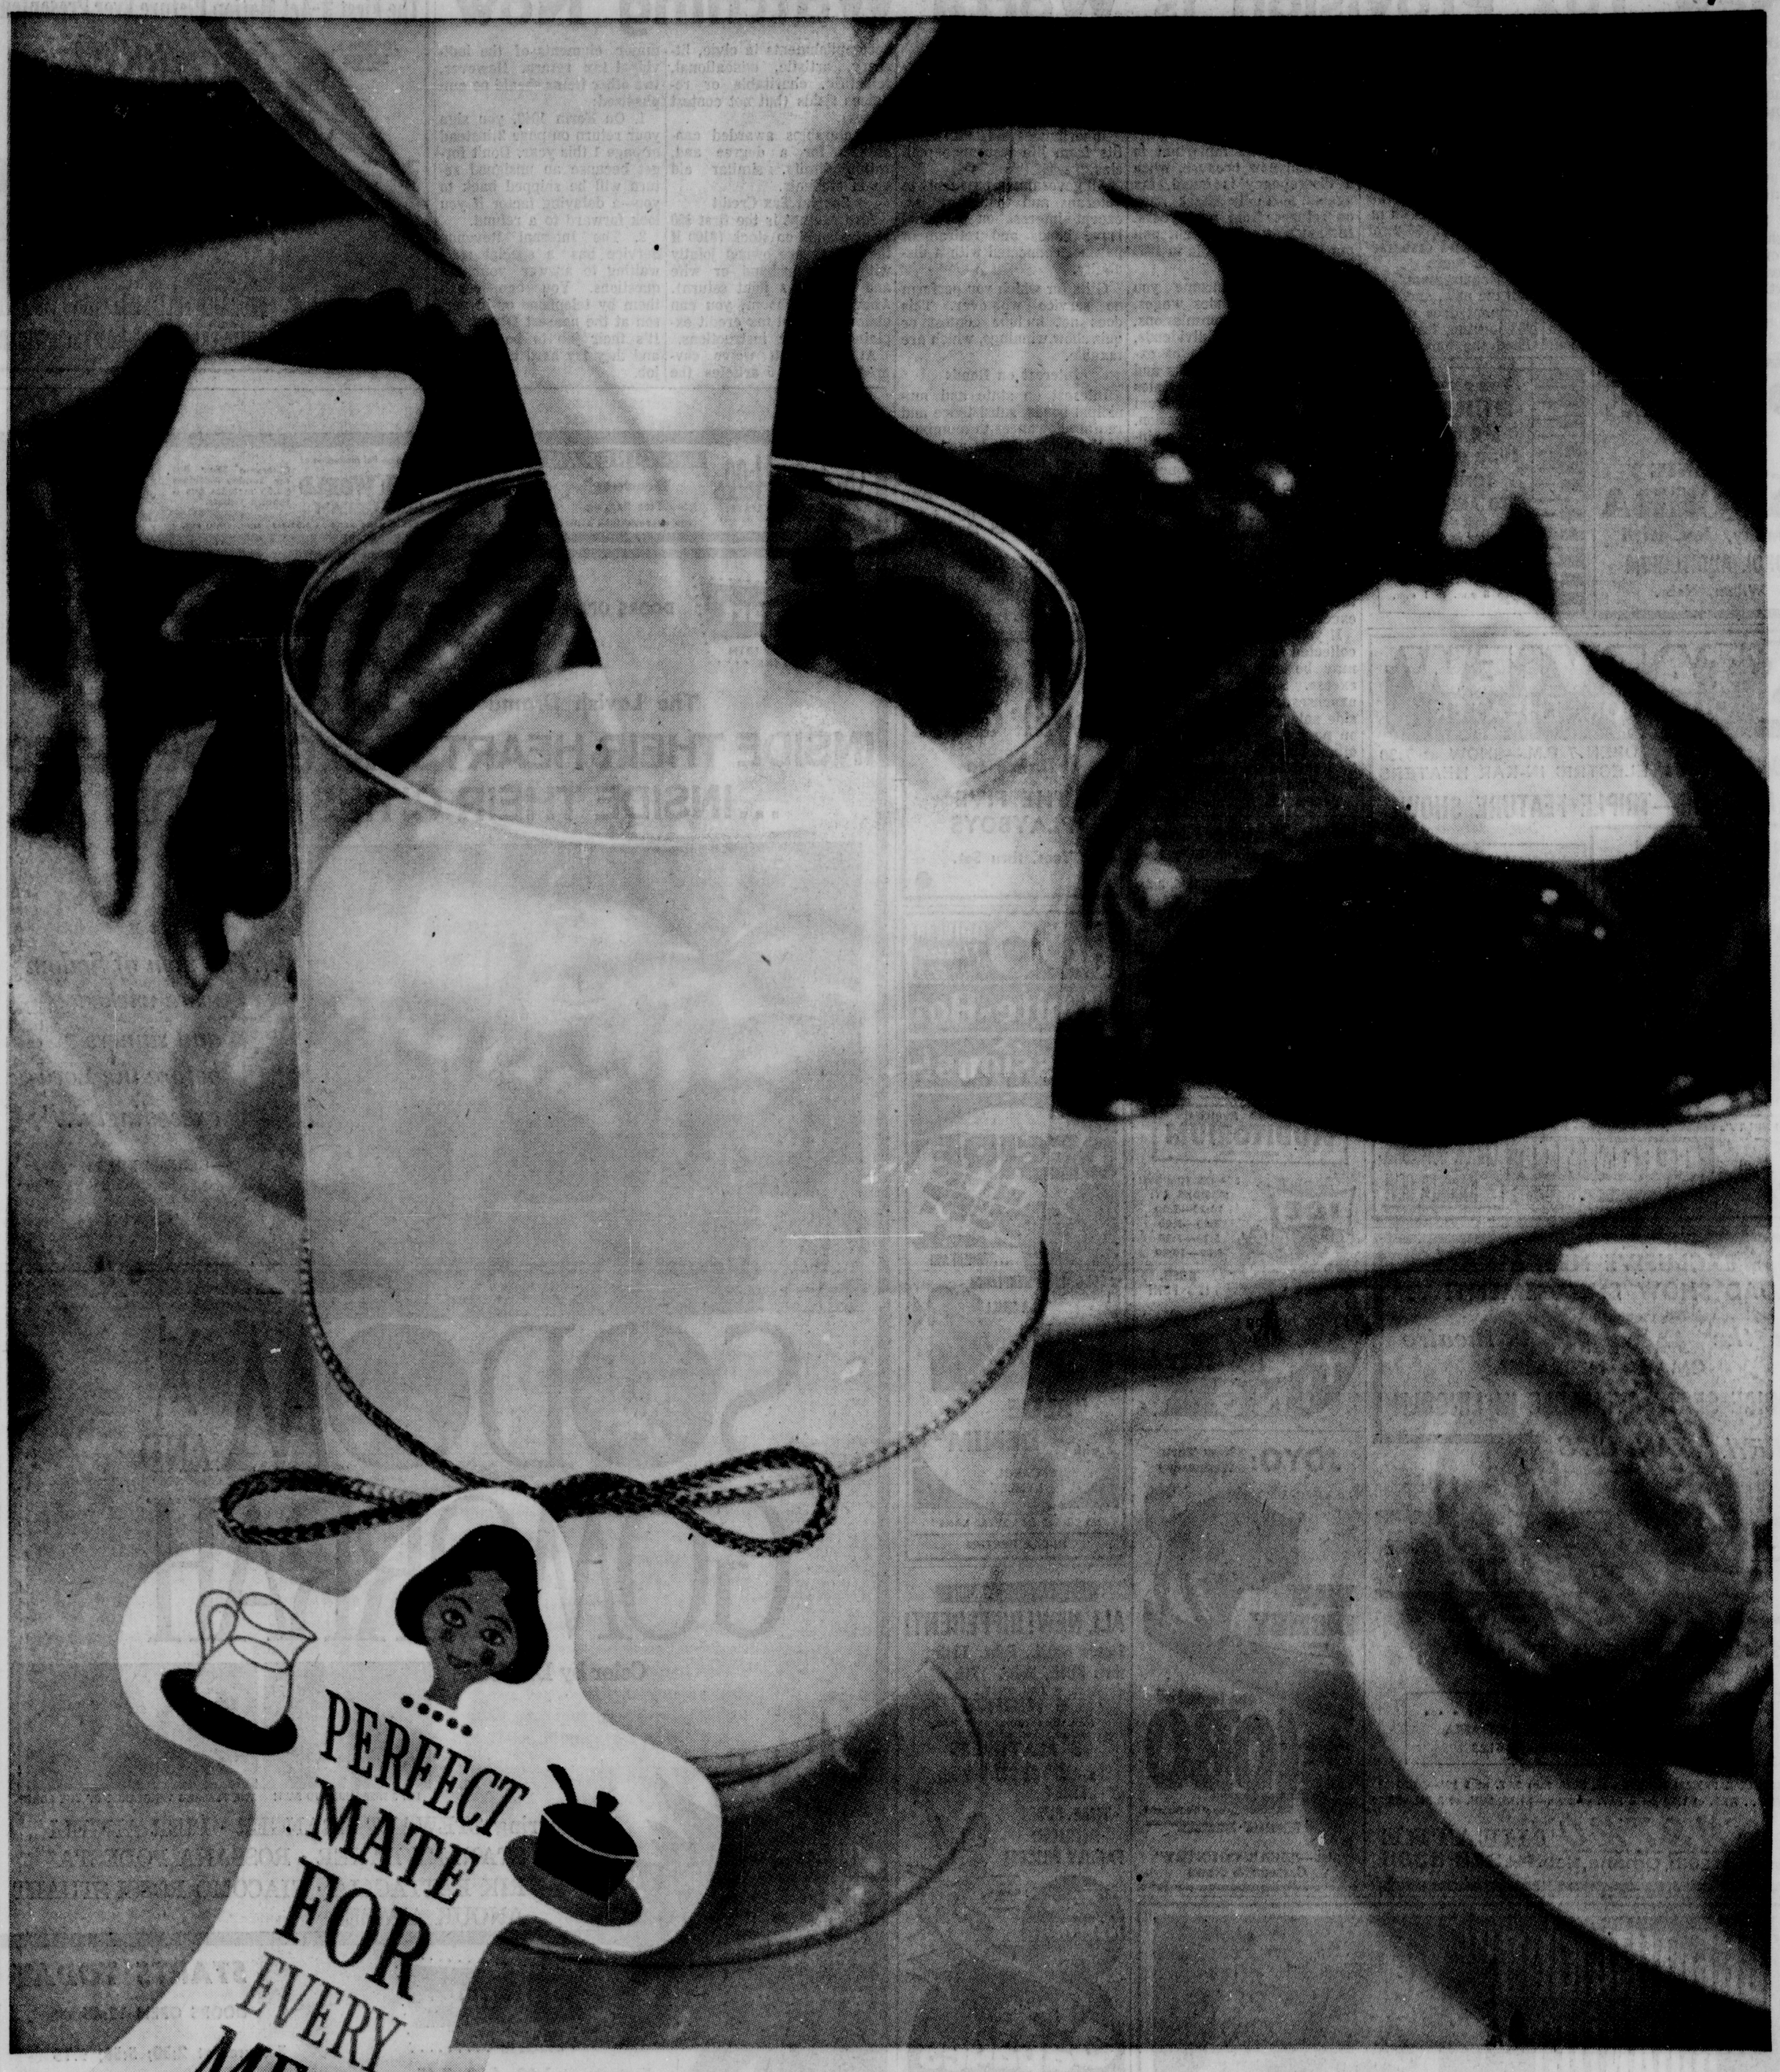

But for this lady to attempt to impose her view on the majority who, unlike her, do believe in Christmas and do not object to but, rather, encourage such so-called "religious indoctrination" and who, like her, do pay taxes, is the apex of presumptuousness! Who is she or anybody else, for that matter, to attempt to impose her will upon the majority?

YOUR INCOME TAX:

New Tax Provision Is Worth Watching Now

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Stiff new requirements aimed at curbing income tax filing violations won't involve 1962 income but it pays to heed them now. In this last of 5 special articles you'll find out why, along with useful information on what income you must report.)

By FRANK CORMIER

Washington (AP)—One provision of the major tax law enacted in the autumn of 1962 is worth noting now—for safety's sake.

Because treasury studies indicated many taxpayers were careless, or dishonest, about reporting all income from dividends and interest, Congress took special action.

Starting last Jan. 1, all corporations, banks, savings and loan associations and similar organizations must report all dividend and interest payments of $10 or more. The law used to require reports on interest payments of $600 or more and dividend disbursements of $10 or more.

New Requirement

Although the new, and stiffer, requirement does not involve 1962 income, taxpayers should heed the handwriting on the wall. Next year, electronic computers will begin checking these reports against the figures listed on tax returns—tripping up the careless and the dishonest.

This may be important to you right now because, when a discrepancy is found, tax agents normally check back on returns from past years. In that way, they might pull out the return you file in 1963 on 1962 income.

The taxable income you must report includes wages, salary, bonuses, commissions, fees, tips, interest, dividends, profits from the sale of exchange of property, rents and royalties, income from estates and trusts, and profits from farm, business, or profession.

Alimony and separate maintenance payments are taxed if received from someone entitled to deduct them on his or her return.

Expense Money

Taxes also are due on expense money provided by your employer if you collected more than you spent on the job. You pay tax on the excess.

If you spent more than you collected from your boss, you may be able to deduct the excess. Some job-connected expenses, notably those of outside salesmen, are deductible on page 1 of the Form 1040; other similar expenses may be itemized as miscellaneous deduction on page 2.

Types of income exempt from taxation include:

Social Security benefit payments, unemployment compensation and payments under the railroad retirement law.

Inheritances and death benefits from life insurance policies.

All government payments to veterans and their families, except interest on terminal leave bonds and retirement pay not connected with a disability.

Gifts for which you perform no service whatever. This does not include contest or quiz show winnings, which are taxable.

Interest on Bonds

Interest on state and municipal bonds, subsistence and rental allowances to members of the armed forces and dividends on life insurance policies.

Pay received while you were sick, within limits set forth in the IRS instruction booklets.

Some income from pensions and annuities, also explained in the official instructions.

Prizes and awards for past accomplishments in civic, literary, artistic, educational, scientific, charitable or religious fields (but not contest prizes).

Scholarships awarded candidates for a degree and, within limits, similar aid given students.

Special Tax Credit

Also exempt is the first $50 of dividends on stock ($100 if the shares are owned jointly with your husband or wife and you file a joint return). Above this amount, you can claim a special tax credit explained in the instructions.

At this point, we've covered in these 5 articles the major elements of the individual tax return. However, two other items should be emphasized:

1. On Form 1040, you sign your return on page 2 instead of page 1 this year. Don't forget because an unsigned return will be shipped back to you—a delaying factor if you look forward to a refund.

2. The Internal Revenue Service has a special staff waiting to answer your tax questions. You can reach them by telephone or in person at the nearest IRS office. It's their job to be helpful, and they try hard to do their job.

$24.75 Indigent Per Diem Set

. . . COUNTY PATIENTS FEE IN 3 HOSPITALS

A per diem fee of $24.75 for Lancaster County indigent patients in Lincoln's 3 accredited hospitals was unofficially set Thursday when hospital administrators and accountants met with the County Board.

Lincoln General, Bryan Memorial and St. Elizabeth Hospitals had requested increases based on the federal formula of 85 to 90% of the regular per diem cost of each hospital.

However, since per diem costs vary with each hospital, the increase from the present $22 fee was derived by taking 85% of an average of the per diem costs of the 3 hospitals.

Figured consistantly by the same means, per diem costs of the hospitals, cited by administrators, are Bryan Memorial, $31.16; Lincoln General, $30.08 and St. Elizabeth $26.22.

The hospital representatives also agreed on a $3.20 figure for county out-patient rates.

This is a substantial saving to the county which has been paying an average of $9 per patient, which was based on a flat fee of $5 plus all costs of drugs or medication.

The County Board had protested this rate, contending that depreciation of the 3 hospitals was not consistent in figuring costs.

$32,000 Variance

The depreciation rates varied from $13,000 to $45,000.

Figured with a 6% depreciation for operating costs excluding X-ray costs and portion of building used for X-rays, out-patient rates for the 3 hospitals amounted to:

Bryan Memorial, $4.67; Lincoln General, $4.16, and St. Elizabeth, $2.50.

The $3.20 figure was derived by taking 85% of the average of the costs of the 3 hospitals.

The County Board is expected to approve the fees, retroactive to Jan. 1, at the next board meeting Tuesday.

Environmental Health Study Pointers To City

A U.S. Public Health Service planner Thursday gave Lincolnites some pointers in conducting an environmental health survey of the area.

Richard Reavis, sanitary engineering consultant of the USPHS environmental engineering, and food protection division, told Health Advisory Council board members that "the purpose of any survey is not to prepare a report, but to have the findings of the survey implemented."

Financing an environmental health survey in Lincoln, he estimated, would cost little more than $500 to $1,000 in printing costs because volunteer workers could be used to gather data on sanitation, sewage, water supply, air pollution, housing and other environmental health fields.

Aid Available

Reavis pointed out that although USPHS no longer has funds for demonstration field studies which have accomplished health surveys in other cities, use of personnel on a limited time basis and loan of necessary equipment would be available if a study were made in Lincoln.

Discussing the need for such a health survey in the Lincoln area, Reavis stressed that the purposes of the study are not only to identify inadequacies but also to point out what is being done now in the area to gain public understanding.

Length of a survey varies with the depth of the study, he admitting, pointing out that a Springfield, Mo., survey took 4 to 5 months of intensive work and an Omaha study of less detail took about 3 months for completion of the report.

He also suggested that the best time for such a survey is late summer and early fall but covering some portion of the heating season.

Council officers will meet at a later date to discuss whether to launch such an environmental health survey in Lincoln.

Assembly Of God Budgets A Third For New Building

Members of the First Assembly of God this week adopted a budget of $32,000, designating a third of the funds for construction of a new building.

Ten per cent of the budget was allotted for missions, according to the Rev. S. K. Biffle Jr.

Also approved at the annual church meeting was a revision of the constitution and by-laws, enlarging the official board to 12, adding a 6-man board of trustees.

Under the revision, members of the official board are:

Deacons: Fred Smith, 3-year term; Irl Everett and J. O. Kess, still serving present terms.

Trustees: Richard Doty and Richard Larsen, 3-year terms; Clyde Millard and Robert Lybarger, two years; Dean Piersol and Leroy Hembree, one year.

Secretary: William Lutes, re-elected.

Treasurer: E. J. Turnwall, re-elected.

State Feed Grain Growers To Get Program Report

The Nebraska Feed Grain Growers Association will hear a report on the 1963 feed grain program Friday during the opening session of the state convention here.

Dr. Ralph Cole, a member of the National Feed Grain Advisory Committee, will present the report.

Also scheduled for the opening day are addresses by William Nelson, executive vice president of the National Milo Growers Association; J. Leroy Welch, an Omaha grain dealer who headed the bi-partisan commission on increased industrial use of agricultural products during the Eisenhower administration, and Mrs. Peggy Walton, nutrition education director for the Nebraska Wheat Growers Association.

Robert Roselle, University of Nebraska Extension entomologist, was also scheduled for an afternoon address.

The convention ends Saturday.

Texans Alleging Mitzner Infringes Their Trademark

A trademark infringement suit against Kenneth L. Mitzner of 1340 O was filed Thursday in U.S. District Court by Zale Jewelry Company Inc. of Dallas, Tex.

Zale alleges it is the assigned owner of the trademark "Baylor," registered as a U.S. trademark since 1946.

It alleges Mitzner has sold and is selling watches associated with the plaintiff company's registered trademark or a "colorable imitation" of the trademark.

The company seeks an injunction restraining Mitzner from using the trademark or an imitation, an accounting of profits and damages and Mitzner's surrender of a Nebraska registration of the "Baylor" trademark.

Long Pine Man Is Found Dead

Long Pine (UPI)—Arveen Brown, 72, longtime Long Pine, Neb., resident, was found dead at the wheel of his parked automobile.

Death apparently resulted from a heart attack.

Mrs. Brown said her husband went out to start the car and when he failed to return, she went to investigate.

She found him slumped over the steering wheel. There was no indication that he had tried to push the vehicle.

Brown formerly worked for the Chicago North Western Railway.

2 East German Policemen Leap To Freedom In Berlin

Berlin (UPI) — Two young East German policemen on anti-refugee patrol duty Thursday jumped from the roof of a 3-story border building to a street in West Berlin and freedom.

One broke both heels in the daring leap in the pre-dawn darkness. The other broke one heel. Both were picked up by a West Berlin emergency squad in the French sector and taken to a hospital.

West Berlin police reported the escape as the city's 12,000-man Western Allied garrison carried out a surprise defense exercise.

The two 19-year old policemen's escape was undetected and there was no shooting, West Berlin police reported. Another East German was not as lucky, they said.

A squad of 10 communist border guards aided by police dogs tracked down and caught the refugee after he had succeeded in getting through one of the two barbed wire barricades dividing the two Berlins.

Workers Supporting Shah Beat College Students In Iran

Tehran, Iran (AP) —Workers supporting Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi's sweeping social reforms stormed into the Tehran University campus Thursday and beat up students for shouting slogans denouncing the ruler.

The invasion by 2,000 young workers came as steel-helmeted police clashed with mullahs near the downtown bazaar area to break up a demonstration by religious leaders opposed to land-reform projects.

Tension built up throughout the ancient southwest Asian kingdom over the social revolution instituted by the youthful monarch.

The Shah went ahead with plans for a nationwide referendum Saturday to get popular approval for his reforms, including distribution among peasants of large and holdings, rental to the peasants of shrine lands owned by Moslem religious groups and a 20% profit-sharing plan for factory workers.

The Shah, ruling with strong-man powers since dissolving Parliament in May 1961, has support from a majority of the population.

Little Girl With Lighter Causes Huskerville Fire

Fire officials Thursday said a small girl playing with a cigaret lighter was responsible for a fire in a Huskerville apartment.

The fire in the home of Jackie Singsaase, 115A, Huskerville, did considerable damage to the dwelling.

Officials said the fire started when the small girl was lighting the lighter in a closet and some clothing caught fire.

Her mother first tried to extinguish the fire with a blanket, but the blanket caught fire.

The fire than traveled to the bedroom and on into the living room.

Nationwide Consumer Testing Institute Report:

PLYMOUTH BEATS FORD AND CHEVROLET IN 8 OUT OF 10 OFFICIAL TESTS

Plymouth once again proves all-around superiority against its competition. Handling, safety, performance, economy—all of these were measured in the second meeting of Ford, Chevrolet and Plymouth early in December at the Riverside, Cal., test course. In a "Showdown" asked for by Plymouth, a 1963 Plymouth Fury V-8 whipped a comparably equipped Chevrolet Impala V-8 and Ford Galaxie "500" V-8 in eight out of ten official tests.

Nationwide Consumer Testing Institute bought the cars, hired the drivers, supplied the officials, made and enforced the rules. The chart at right leaves no question about the results. Plymouth excelled in all-around performance and economy. Add in Plymouth's good looks and 5-year/50,000-mile warranty*. See your dealer. Plymouth's on the move.

Dear Abby

Actions Are Louder

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Last night my husband and I had a big discussion about "love." He feels that it is not important for a man to say, "I love you." He makes a very good living, pays all the bills, gives me everything I want, including a car of my own and beautiful clothes, but he never says, "I love you." When I tell him I love him, he says, "I know it."

I have an empty feeling around my heart. I would trade all the things that money can buy just to hear him say, "I love you." Am I wrong?

UNLOVED

DEAR UNLOVED: If you are serious about "trading" —I can introduce you to plenty of men who are in debt up to their ears, cheat like mad, never buy their wives anything, but THEY always tell their wives how much they "love" them. Actions speak louder than words. And they last longer.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My son gives his wife $120 every two weeks for groceries. He also leaves her the car and takes the train to work. Now, Abby, I am not spying on her, but how come her mileage meter shows she travels on the average of 300 miles a week to buy her groceries when there are three grocery stores within a half mile of her house?

CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS: If you are "curious," not spying, and think you ought to know, why don't you ask her?

* * *

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a husband who comes home from work and has the children in an uproar all the time? He says, "WHO left the paper on the floor? Who left the lights on? WHO? WHO? WHO?" They are all upset and crying before he even gets his hat off. He even yells because they BREATHE too loud when the TV set is on! He doesn't do nerve-racking work either. He has a white-collar job in an office. What on earth is wrong with him?

ON EDGE

DEAR ON EDGE: Why don't you start with HIM? Perhaps he needs a physical check-up. Some white-collar office jobs are frequently the most nerve-racking. He's your man. He needs sympathy, understanding and help. Don't blame him. Find out what ails him.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am a school teacher. Each Cristmas I receive many gifts from students. Some good and some not so good. This year I received several things in poor taste, among them a pair of earrings with large multi-colored stones. They were hideous and I gave them to my wash woman. The other day the mother called me saying her daughter gave me "those lovely earrings" by mistake and she wanted them back. I told her I would "look for them," hoping she would forget it. She didn't. Yesterday I received a very ugly letter, demanding I return the earrings at once. What can I do? I can't tell her the truth. Is it proper to ask for a gift back? I'd hate to lose my job for a 29c piece of junk.

NEEDS HELP

DEAR NEEDS: The child obviously gave you the earrings without her mother's knowledge. Buy another gift for your "wash woman" and explain the situation to her. Then, next time a child gives you a gift, "thank" the mother.

Fifty-Niners Dinner Dance

The members of the Fifty-Niners Dance Club have a party planned for Saturday evening, Feb. 9, at Hotel Cornhusker.

Arranging the dinner dance details is a committee composed of Mr. and Mrs. William Knight, chairmen; Mr. and Mrs. Gene Cedardahl, Mr. and Mrs. William Swearigen and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gray.

Recently elected officers of the group include Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Manzotti, president; Dr. and Mrs. Jerome Cain, vice-president; Mr. and Mrs. John Young, secretary, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Dunn, treasurer.

Dad, Mom, Car—And Suburbia

COTNER TERRACE

One of the most interesting cold-weather phenomena of Suburbia is the sudden and seasonal popularity of the "second car." Originally purchased so the little woman of the family can haul groceries and chauffeur youngsters to and from Cub Scout and Blue Bird meetings, dancing lessons, and the dentist. The second car, normally, is scorned by the Head of The Household who drives off each morning in the family's shiny pride and joy.

With the advent of below-zero weather, however, it's the family's $150 "whoopee" that usually starts faithfully with a cough and a sputter, while the more expensive "fluid-drive-and-automatic-choke" just sits there in stubborn, gleaming silence.

Such is the case related by many suburban housewives who "aren't doing a thing" this week because father has mother's car.

Cotner Terrace residents who have found a way to solve the car and the weather situation, however, are Mr. and Mrs. Rex Winders and Mr. and Mrs. August Vahle who will be leaving very soon for sunshine, pineapples, and warm ocean breezes.

The travelers will leave Lincoln by train on Thursday, and will be headed for a delightful vacation in Colorado, California and Hawaii.

The first stop is scheduled at Los Angeles, and from here the vacationers will continue their journey, and arrive in Honolulu on Feb. 9. The Los Angeles-Honolulu trek will be made on board the SS Lurline.

In Hawaii, Mr. and Mrs. Winders and Mr. and Mrs. Vahle will join about 30 other Nebraskans on a tour arranged by a Lincoln travel bureau. The Nebraskans will be in Hawaii two weeks, and will visit four of the islands.

The Lincoln foursome will fly to San Francisco on Feb. 21 where Mr. and Mrs. Winders will remain for several days as guests of their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Wight and Lynn Marie and Steven. Mr. and Mrs. Vahle will return to Lincoln after a short stay in San Francisco.

After the California stopover, Mr. and Mrs. Winders will go to Denver where they will visit another son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Wight and Kevin. They will return to the Capitol City early in March.

A reminder to most of you who don't have anything to do this evennig—If you have an eight-year-old young man in your home, you probably know what's what about Cub Scout night in Cotner Terrace!

This evening's gathering at Northeast Community Church is for all the Den members in the neighborhood's Pack 58 and also, for the parents.

We understand that one of the Dens will be entertaining their "special guests" with an original skit, and that a "coffee and cookie hour" will follow the program.

New residents in Cotner Terrace just in time for the paralyzing weather are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Paro and family. Not completely new in the city, Mr. and Mrs. Paro had lived, since August, at their former Adams Street address. Before this, they were Fountain, Colo. residents.

The younger occupants at the new Paro home at 6840 Fremont are 16-year-old Susan, who is a junior at Northeast High School; six-year-old Kurt, a first-grader at Pershing; and 13-year-old Kendra, a seventh-grader at Mickel Junior High.

Welcome to cold Cotner Terrace!

Snow Ball Queens Are Honored

The Y-Teens of Lincoln couldn't have chosen a colder, snowier night for their annual Snow Ball, which was held Wednesday evening at the Lincoln Hotel.

During the dance, the hundreds of Lincoln high school students attending paid special recognition to the four high school "Queens", their escorts and court attendants.

Honored queens were (seated, from the left) Marcia Ault, Lincoln High School; JoAnne Spahn, University High School; Pam Owens, Southeast High School; and Jan Knickerbocker, Northeast High School.

CHATTER —in the— CORRIDOR

By SANDIE LAW

Hi! This has been a short week for the students but a long one for the teachers. Wondering why? Well, the students have been out of school since Wednesday night for semester vacation, while the teachers had to go back Thursday and today to get report cards completed and prepared for the second semester.

Several comments from the Lincoln Northeast corridors about vacation activities were: "Let's practice for Rocket Revue tryouts." "Let's have a sledding party." "I want a snowball fight." "I'm going to the Snoball Dance." "I have to work." "I'll have to help my mom." The comment I heard the most was: "I'm going to sleep late and have four dates—I hope."

On January 17, six Lincoln Northeast students were on the telecast of "Voice of the Young Citizen" on KUON-TV. Participating in this program were Bruce Borin, Pat Guidinger, John Foust, James Kelley, Frank Lee, and Stan Wattnem. Their presentation was on "How Can Americans Deal With the Communist Threat Internally and Externally?" The program is sponsored by the Governmental Research Institute and KUON-TV.

Last Friday our wrestling team traveled to Bellevue but brought home a loss of 30-13. Let's beat Grand Island tonight, fellas!

Our swim team defeated Grand Island, 55-39, Friday afternoon. Our 160 yard medley team, and John Chollar, Dick Sehnert, Don Frazier, Bob Kinkaid, Churck Peterson, and Gib Alberti all took a first place.

LN's gymnastics team continued its mastery over opposition Friday by defeating Grand Isalnd, 90½-37½. Bill Marple won 3 events-rope climb, horizontal bars, and parallel bar. Mike Ready won the trampoline and tumbling while Gary Jurgens took over the rings. Jim Inness won the side horse.

Our basketball team put up a hard battle to try to take the lead over Lincoln High but we lost with a close score of 36-33. High point men were Larry Hubka with 10 points and Terry Monk with 7.

Wednesday, besides handing in our books and finishing semester exams, we had locker clean-up. There were items ranging from lost notebooks, pens, pencils, extra paper, gloves, scarfs, and socks to last week's sandwich, and gum wrappers.

See you next week when the new semester of school starts and when I'll have more news. Bye!

'Ifs' From the Experts

IF YOU ARE: TALL AND SLENDER

1. Avoid tight straight skirts.
2. Wear full sleeves, or dolman type.
3. Bold plaids and horizontal stripes for you.
4. Have lots of full gathered, circular and pleated skirts.
5. Capes add fullness, as do jackets with peplums.

OR ARE YOU: SHORT AND SLENDER

1. You can wear full skirts . . . but not too full or you'll appear over-balanced.
2. Select coats straight or with slight flare . . . or single-breasted classics.
3. Avoid large puff sleeves or sleeves with deep cuffs.
4. Small plaids, checks and lighter colors are for you.
5. Your two-piece outfits should be the same color, or colors that blend well together.

IF YOU ARE: TALL AND STOCKY

1. Build your wardrobe on darker colors. A navy suit is better for you than a tan one.
2. Never wear a different colored belt.
3. Try to have one color from hemline to hat.
4. Avoid horizontal stripes.
5. Don't have large patch pockets on jumpers or dresses.

OR ARE YOU: SHORT AND STOCKY

1. Wear up and down stripes.
2. No short full jackets or boleros for you.

The Spring Trends In Costume Jewelry

Earrings take to the long and short of it this season, too. Rounded, chunky buttons, or the very short drop in tailored gold, or combined with pearl or stone sparkle are the style for day with the long, glittering, shimmering rhinestone lighting the night. In a season of more subdued hairdos, ear adornment really comes into its own!

Bangles split-up for spring, ending a long and happy marriage, but forming a smart, new alliance. Wear your spring bracelets in pairs, but unmatched with one on each arm. Bright colorful rows of beads and plain or stone studded gold and silver tell the spring bracelet story where widths suit every whim and every color is "in."

Fluid jewels that flow with the soft lines of the clothes are this spring's signature. Long swanlike necks are the current conception of beauty; so longer necklaces, that lend an impression of length to your neck, are the mode. Emphatically dramatic pins, large button earrings, newly important with the ear-exposing piled high coiffures, form a great part of the spring fashion.

The Gardener's Notes On Plants

SHOWER GIFT

Make a unique and serviceable kitchen-shower gift with a cupcake tin filled with plants in 2-inch clay pots from the dime store—one plant in each cup.

HOUSE PLANT CUTTINGS

Make a handy cutting container with a large clay pot filled with sterilized potting soil and an empty 2-inch clay pot with corked drainage hole submerged in the center. Place cuttings in soil, and fill center pot with water. Water seeps slowly through porous pot sides to keep soil in larger pot evenly moist.

POPULAR PLANT

A good buy at your florist or garden center this month is the gay red kalanchoe. It is the longest - to - stay - in-bloom house plant available. Set the porous clay pot in water for a half hour every other day to keep soil moist and blossoms fresh.

CLAY-POT DECOR

New Decorating idea for clay flower pots in sequin studded beauty. Attach gold or multicolored sequins with waterproof cement—either in polka dot fashion or in simple designs. Good project for a garden club meeting display.

START SEEDS INDOORS

This is the ideal time to start double petunias from seed indoors. Use a clay flower pot with sterilized potting soil, sprinkle seeds on top, cover with a pane of glass. Water by setting pot in bowl to soak up water from below.

Films Forum

The members of the Lincoln Films Forum will meet Monday at the YWCA for luncheon and the showing of a promotional film on Nebraska agriculture and industrial potential.

News of Shoes

So You Can't Spell—Just Relax

If you never know whether the word is "embarrassment," "embarassment," or "embarrassement," relax.

According to Dr. Dominick Barbara, New York psychoanalyst and author of such books as "Your Speech Reveals Your Personality" and "The Art of Listening," the reason you don't know is that you are probably tense.

Reporting on research studies of spelling bee winners, Dr. Barbara explains that youngsters who can relax have a decided advantage over those who are tense, even when the tense youngsters have a sounder knowledge of the words on which the test is based. The compulsive tendencies that may drive people to success in fields like business and entertainment, seldom make them good spellers.

Interviewed in connection with publication of "The 100 Words Easiest to Misspell" Dr. Barbara speculates that most of the words on the list are easiest to misspell simply because they are hardest to spell. Words like "occurrence," "inoculate," "recommend" and "occasional" are difficult because of the doubled letters. Most of us have a hard time remembering which letters to double whether we have any emotional problems or not.

While Dr. Barbara insists that people of high general intelligence have the ability to spell well if they set their minds to it, he is not convinced that poor spelling is an indication of small ability, or vice versa.

"Very often," he says, "a person spells poorly because he was taught poorly." Many experiments, he says, have shown that "very authoritarian" teachers produce frightened students who spell poorly. So, on the other hand, do very permissive teachers. In between are healthy, straight-forward teachers who instill a healthy, straightforward—i.e. non-emotional—attitude toward spelling.

It's not always easy. Spelling and writing, Dr. Barbara explains, are high prestige skills in our culture. Some students are encouraged by their parents "to go at them too hard." When they fail, the experience is so painful that they "back off from spelling," fearing subsequent failures. Years of "backing off" produces adults who can't spell.

Why Grow Old?

It Is The Day For Questions

Josephine Lowman

Q. "I am 5 feet, 4 inches tall and 37-years-old. I feel like I am 50. I tried to diet and did very well for a while, but I go off my diet when I see candy.

"I want candy at all times of the day. Even before I put the coffee on in the morning I go to the living room table and eat candy. Then I go into the kitchen and start the coffee. Please help me lose 25 pounds and this awful craving for candy."

A. It sounds as though you have a whole mouth full of sweet teeth instead of "A sweet tooth." It is possible that there is some medical reason for this oversized craving for sweets but more likely it is a question of habit.

Evidently, for a while, you were able to do without an excess of candy since you once reduced successfully, and you say you go off your diet only when you see candy. The answer is not to have any candy in the house. Do not go into candy stores and ask your friends not to have it around when you are. Use a few such crutches until your will power becomes stronger. If this craving continues, regardless, talk to your doctor about it.

Q. "I have been overweight for a long time and I want to start on your diet soon but I need some exercises very badly. I want some that lift and firm the bust without increasing its size. I want to get some dumb bells but do not know what exercises to do with them."

A. The only way to increase or decrease the size of the bust itself is by a gain or a loss of weight. However, you can increase the bust measurement and life the bust by increasing the size of the chest muscles with exercise.

Here is one you can use with dumb bells or books. Lie on your back on a piano bench or a narrow table. Take a dumb bell in each hand. Let your arms drop down toward the floor. Slowly lift your arms (elbows straight) sideward-upward until the fingertips touch. Slowly lower arms to starting position.

If any of my readers would like to have some exercises for increasing the bust measurement, send 10 cents and a 5-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for my booklet on "Your Bust." Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Lincoln Star, Lincoln, Nebraska.

Serve Tea Guests By The Fire

One of the very nice ways to entertain close friends on a wintry afternoon is tea by the fire. A card table and a pretty cloth, your best teacups and a choice of pastries and sandwiches — and your party is a success.

Use an embroidered cloth, but be sure that the embroidery is shown to its best advantage. This may be easily accomplished by placing your tea cloth over a brightly colored linen cloth — so that the color more or less outlines the embroidered motif.

Bridge

Partner's Overcall

B. Jay Becker

You are South, both sides vulnerable. The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
1♣	1♠	Pass	?

What would you now bid with each of the following four hands?

1. ♠Q853 ♥AK764 ♦72 ♣95
2. ♠J5 ♥AJ ♦KQ973 ♣KJ84
3. ♠AJ72 ♥KQ832 ♦96 ♣A3
4. ♠A8652 ♥7 ♦AK9843 ♣6

1. Two spades. Before discussing the four hands, it might be best to first refer to the significance of North's spade bid. Generally, an overcall in the one level indicates a fairly good suit at least five cards in length and over-all values that would not justify an opening bid as dealer. It is merely a competitive bid directed chiefly towards achieving a part score.

The partner of the overcaller reacts accordingly. He bids naturally, but keeps in mind that the overcall is not the equivalent of an opening bid and may be based on as little as 8 or 10 high-card points. In this hand, the proper action is a single raise in spades. It would be wrong to bid two hearts, which might be passed all around and prove to be the wrong contract.

2. Three notrump. It is highly likely, in view of North's spade bid, that game can be made, and the surest way of getting there is to take the direct route. Whatever the nature of North's spade bid, our hand figures to produce game opposite it. North may have bid largely on distributional values, in which case he is free to convert three notrump to four spades, but if he accepts three notrump as the contract, it will probably be made.

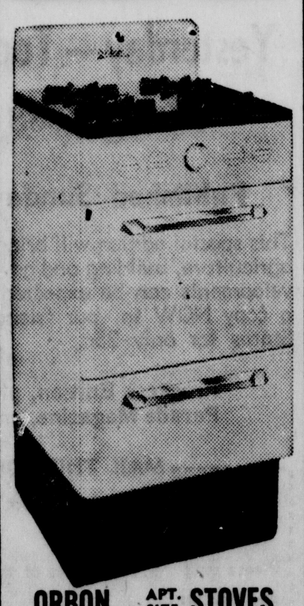

A jump to two notrump would not be forcing and would show a lesser hand. Nor is there much point to naming the diamond suit with a hand so preeminently satisfactory for notrump.

3. Four spades. Regardless of the type of hand North has for his overcall, it is obvious that game must be undertaken. It is hard to imagine a hand North might have where he would be likely to lose four tricks. A mere invitation to game should not be issued with hands of this magnitude. You have to bid 'em right up.

4. Four notrump. Despite West's opening bid, there is a distinct possibility of making a slam. The question of how many high-card points North has is not important, but whether he has an ace is. The way to find out about the ace situation is to use Blackwood.

If North responds five diamonds, showing one ace, the plan is to bid six spades. North's hand may be as poor as ♠KJ973 ♥A52 ♦74 ♣862, and even this sad collection would probably produce twelve tricks.

Celebrated 'Dove Bill' Introduced Again

The celebrated "Dove Bill" made a return appearance in the Legislature Thursday.

Introducing the bill to legalize shooting of the mourning dove by designating it a game bird were Sens. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, Cecil Craft of North Platte and William Skarda, Jr. of Omaha.

Similar bills crop up at every Unicameral session but regularly have been defeated.

A bill principally sponsored by Sen. Le Roy Bahensky of St. Paul and introduced Thursday would reduce from 15½ to 15 years the age at which a youth may obtain a learners permit to drive. The measure, LB451, also would extend the period of the learners permit from 6 months to one year.

Sen. Carpenter introduced a bill to hike the pay of the deputy attorney general from $9,500 to $12,000 per year.

Sen. Edward Danner of Omaha and three colleagues introduced a bill to ratify the U.S. constitutional amendment outlawing the poll tax as a qualification for voting.

Altogether, 26 new bills were introduced Thursday, raising the session total to 467.

Lancaster County senators sponsored a measure, LB466, reducing from 18 to 16 the age at which minors may play pool or billiards in public places, but making it unlawful for pool hall operators to sell alcoholic liquor in any room where minors are permitted.

Sen. Skarda introduced a bill to authorize withholding of the pay of government employes at the state or lower levels for the purpose of participating in employee organizations such as labor unions, credit unions, savings bond or community charity plans. Deductions would only be made with the consent of the employe.

POSTCARD by Stan Kallaplane

A chilly a.m. in San Francisco. While I am snug-a-bed, the smallest child has been in the cigarettes. She chews them soberly and with relish. (Brand name on request.)

The morning journal relates the story of a moppet who is on the weed.

Her mama writes to the Doctor columnist:

"At the tender age of two, she wanted to smoke. Finally I let her have a deep drag and she choked."

☆ ☆ ☆

The child is now 8 and is on dollar cigars. It is a problem. The newspaper Doctor does not know how to answer it either.

My oldest child is now in the upper teens.

I gave her long lectures on smoking. Like, "Save the long butts. You may run out and have to smoke them."

I told her, "Every medical finding shows that smoking is BAD for you. Also it costs me a fortune for my own cigarettes. So quit."

We have made little progress.

☆ ☆ ☆

This is one of the parental problems you don't foresee. When you find your offspring on the first cigarette.

It seems to me it was simpler in my day.

In that time, it was a kindly story that small boys went behind the barn and smoked a corncob pipe. They got sick and swore off forever.

This was the way parents expected you to grow up. Simply. Experiment and horrid result. Solution all for the best.

☆ ☆ ☆

I do not remember it being that way for me. I lived in a more sophisticated era—we did not have a barn to go behind except when we went down to the farm on holidays.

The accepted form in those days was to start on cornsilk.

You get the dry, brown silk off your mother's corn and wrap it in newspaper. Delicious as I remember. Anyway, at 12 it is very grownup. It is not exactly accepted. But not frowned upon if you do it around a bonfire at night.

There were also Cubebs. These were medicated cigarettes to cure asthma or something. You could get them at drugstores. They tasted fierce but were certainly a mark of manhood.

☆ ☆ ☆

With my own moppets I think I should be strict and stern. And I am. I don't let the littlest one slobber on cigarettes if I catch her in time. They get all wet and hard to light.

With the oldest one, I set up a set of slippery rules:

"You can have a cigarette after dinner. But not in public until you are 18."

With such a set of rules, I could not understand why I always found a full ashtray kicked under her bed. She said it was girl friends who visited her.

"HER father lets HER smoke!"

"Well, I won't," I said. "I wasn't allowed to smoke until I was 18."

☆ ☆ ☆

This is absolutely true. I stayed on cornsilk until I was 13 and went to high school. At that time, I gave up the fight. All my contemporaries were sneaking cigarettes and playing snooker pool. And so did I.

I was not very good at hiding the evidence. My mother caught me within a month. We had a tearful session and I promised to give them up. We agreed that 13 was too young.

It made a good impression on me and I didn't start again until I was 14.

All Ages Will Like This

Here are suggestions for a menu — one to be used on a lazy Sunday morning when members of the family have time to enjoy it, or following a teen-ager slumber party. Of course the food will be appreciated equally by the growing and the grown — so don't hesitate to serve it for brunch guests.

FRIED CREAM OF WHEAT WITH BACON

- 8 slices of bacon, cut into small pieces
- 1½ cups milk
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 4 cups quick Cream of Wheat Cereal
- ½ teaspoon dry mustard
- 2 eggs, unbeaten

Cook the bacon in skillet over medium heat until crisp, remove bacon and all but 3 tablespoons drippings in pan, add milk and salt, bring to a boil. Slowly add quick Cream of Wheat cereal mixed with the mustard, stirring constantly as mixture thickens. Lower heat and cook 5 minutes more, stirring occasionally. Add the eggs, one at a time, blend thoroughly, stir in bacon. Pour into a greased 2-quart rectangular baking dish. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F) 40-45 minutes. Serve with syrup and Broiled Peach Halves. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

BROILED PEACH HALVES: Drain peach halves, allow one half for each serving. Put on the broiler, sprinkle lightly with brown sugar. Put 1 teaspoon butter in each peach cavity and broil until peaches are lightly brown. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

CINNAMON MUFFINS

- 1¼ cups sifted flour
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- ½ cup quick Cream of Wheat
- 1 egg, lightly beaten
- 1 cup milk
- ¼ cup melted butter or margarine
- ¼ cup granulated sugar
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt, add sugar and quick Cream of Wheat. Combine egg, milk and melted butter. Make a well in flour mixture, pour in milk mixture all at once. Stir quickly and lightly until just mixed but still lumpy. Fill 12 well-greased muffin cups two-third's full. Bake about 25 minutes in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) or until done.

Combine sugar and cinnamon; place on waxed paper. Roll hot muffins in mixture, one or two at a time until completely coated. Serve hot. Makes 12 muffins.

A Very Noble Dish Is This Bouillabaise—Try It

"This Bouillabaisse a noble dish is—A sort of soup, or broth, or stew, —Or a hotchpotch of all sorts of fishes . . ." These are some of the words used by William Thackeray to describe one of his favorite French fish dishes. "Green herbs, red peppers, mussels, saffron, —Soles, onions, garlic, roach and dace . . ." were the ingredients. One of New oYrk's elegant restaurants features Bouillabaisse Salad — a hearty and nourishing summer main dish — which you can easily make in your own home by following the restaurant's recipe below. Perhaps you'll have to substitute clams for mussels.

BOUILLABAISSE SALAD

2 lobsters (average 2 pounds each)
2 dozen mussels
16 shrimp, shelled and deveined
1 pound lump crab meat
1 cup chopped celery
1 head Boston lettuce
Very thinly sliced tomatoes

All shellfish must be cooked and cooled. In shallow salad bowl make a bed of lettuce. Arrange celery, crab, and lobster meat in the center and alternate shrimp, mussels and tomatoes around edge of bowl. Pour dressing (recipe below) over salad.

DRESSING

1 cup oil
1 cup vinegar
¼ cup fish stock (reduced liquid in which shellfish were cooked, or clam juice)
1 onion, diced
1 tablespoon chopped chives
1 teaspoon salt
¼ ounce white pepper
2 tablespoons dry white wine
1 hard-boiled egg, chopped fine.

Mix oil, vinegar, fish stock, onion, wine and seasoning and pour over salad. Garnish with chopped egg and serve. Makes 4 servings.

Hudson Valley Apple Cake

This is the time of year to serve a Hudson Valley apple cake made famous by an old New York restaurant. Easy to bake, and delicious to eat —a cake with a rich topping which turns it into a glamour dessert.

HUDSON VALLEY APPLE CAKE
(as served at Janssen's Restaurant in New York City)

- 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
- 2-3 cup sugar, divided
- ¼ teaspoon baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon vanilla
- ½ cup butter
- 4 cups thinly sliced apples
- ¾ cup canned toasted slivered almonds
- ½ cup seedless raisins
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 lemon, juice and grated peel
- ¼ cup white wine
- 2 egg yolks
- 1 cup dairy sour cream

Mix and sift flour, 2 tablespoons of the sugar, baking powder and salt. Stir in vanilla. Cut in butter until mixture resembles coarse cornmeal. Spread on bottom of greased 9-inch pie pan. Combine apples, almonds, raisins, ½ cup of the sugar, cinnamon, lemon juice, grated lemon peel and wine; mix well; heap in pie pan. Bake at 425 degrees for 10 minutes. Combine egg yolks, remaining sugar and sour cream; pour over apple mixture; bake at 350 degrees for 35 minutes longer. Makes 6 servings.

"Shoestring" Elegance

For dinner parties "on a shoestring," halibut steaks are among your wisest choices because they are a premium food with an economy price. Almost everyone enjoys halibut and this provincial specialty will serve a party of eight, or doubled to serve sixteen. You might complete the economy menu with buttered rice, baby carrots, cole slaw with pineapple chunks, salt sticks, and angel cake with cranberry sauce for dessert.

BROILED HALIBUT STEAKS PROVENCAL

Plan on 3½ pounds of fresh or frozen halibut steaks to make 8 servings. If halibut is frozen, let stand at room temperature for 30 minutes. Sprinkle both sides of steaks with lemon juice, salt and pepper. Brush with melted butter or margarine, and arrange in preheated broiler pan. Broil 2 inches from heat 2 minutes. Turn carefully and broil 4 minutes longer or until fish flakes easily with a fork. Serve with Provencal Sauce (recipe below).

PROVENCAL SAUCE

- 6 cups stewed tomatoes
- ½ cup olive oil
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ½ teaspoon pepper
- 2 teaspoons sugar
- 3 cloves garlic, minced
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley

Drain tomatoes and chop. Heat olive oil in a heavy saucepan. Add tomatoes and remaining ingredients. Cover and simmer 30 minutes. Makes about 4 cups of sauce or enough for 8 servings of halibut.

Cherry Parfait Sauce

You'll love the cheerful deep pink and smooth delicate texture of Cherry Parfait Sauce. It's quick to make, too, since the gelatin only needs to chill briefly before folding in the sour cream and cherries. The sauce can be held at room temperature until serving time since you want it to be thick but not set.

CHERRY PARFAIT SAUCE

- 1 can (1 lb.) light or dark sweet cherries
- 1 package cherry-flavored gelatin
- 1 cup sour cream
- 1 tablespoon grated orange peel

Angel food cake wedges

Drain cherries, reserving syrup. Add water to syrup to measure 1¼ cups. Heat cherry syrup and water. Add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Chill briefly until cooled but not thickened. Fluff sour cream with a fork or beat until smooth. Stir into cold gelatin mixture along with grated orange peel. Chill 15 minutes; fold in cherries. Chill 5 minutes, then hold at room temperature until ready to serve on angel food cake wedges. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Food and Fun Time

We may have a two-party system in government, but there's only one sure system for a successful party for teen-agers. And that's a good food-and-fun system, approached with a bit of ingenuity.

Kraut, frankfurters and dill pickels are about the most popular party foods you can serve . . . and a clever combination of these three delightful foods is found in Kraut Weiner Wagons. They fit in so wonderfully with the Old West theme the youngsters (and their Dads, too!) so enjoy these days.

The cunning Kraut Weiner Wagons are so economical and easy to fix, your youngster can prepare the dish all by himself . . . and have some extra fun in doing it. Just mix the flavorsome kraut with a can of marinara sauce, place the delicious dill pickle wagon wheels at the end of toothpick axels, and set the frankfurters in buns atop them.

KRAUT WEINER WAGONS
(Makes 8 servings)

- 5 dill pickles
- 2 cups sauerkraut, drained
- 1 can (10¼ ounces) marinara sauce
- 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
- 8 frankfurters
- 8 buttered frankfurter rolls, heated

Cut dill pickles into ½-inch round slices (32 slices.) Mix kraut, marinara sauce and mustard in saucepan; heat to simmering point. Grill or broil frankfurters until lightly browned. Place frankfurters in rolls and spoon kraut sauce on top. Insert toothpick through center of each pickle slice, then fasten 2 onto each side of buns to form wagon wheels.

MOLASSES PEANUT BUTTER COOKIES

- ¾cup shortening
- ½ cup sugar
- ½ cup unsulphured molasses
- ½ cup peanut butter
- 1 egg
- 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon baking soda
- 2 teaspoons baking powder

Cream together shortening and sugar. Add unsulphured molasses, peanut butter and egg; blend well. Sift together flour, salt, soda and baking powder. Stir into molasses MIXTURE. Drop by tablespoonsful onto ungreased baking sheet.

YIELD: Approximately 2 dozen.

Pecans add Glamour

Just in case you have not become as yet a devotee of Brussels sprouts, this recipe will put them on your 'best-liked' list. The pecans make the difference.

BRUSSELS SPROUTS WITH PECAN BUTTER

- 1½ pounds (2 pints) Brussels sprouts
- x1-inch boiling chicken stock
- 2 tablespoons chopped onion
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ cup coarsely chopped pecans
- ½ stick butter or margarine
- Pimiento strips
- Fresh parsley

Wash and trim Brussels sprouts. Soak in salted water to cover 20 minutes, using 1 teaspoon salt to one quart water. Drain and rinse with cold water. Place them in a saucepan with 1-inch boiling chicken stock, onion and salt. Bring to boiling point and cook, uncovered, 5 minutes. Cover and cook 10 minutes or until just barely crisp-tender. Drain if necessary and keep hot. Saute pecans in butter or margarine 2 to 3 minutes or until butter is golden. Pour over Brussels sprouts. Toss lightly. Garnish with pimiento strips and a sprig of fresh parsley.

xIf chicken stock is not available substitute chicken bouillon cubes and boiling water, using 1 bouillon cube to each cup water. Omit salt.

YIELD: 6 servings.

Condemned Man Protests, But His Execution Delayed

New York (AP) — A condemned killer with a long-standing lust for death Thursday won a last-minute stay of execution, despite his bitter protests. He had denounced the zealous, self-appointed attorney who saved his life, saying, "I am all set and prepared to go."

"I do not want any do-gooder to interfere," complained Frederick C. Wood, 51, a seedy, wise-cracking slayer of 5 persons, who mocked the sentencing judge two years ago when he was condemned to death.

Wood was scheduled to die in Sing Sing prison's electric chair at 10 p.m. Thursday for the 1960 killing of two men who had befriended him. However, Federal Dist. Judge Dudley B. Bonsal postponed execution to Feb. 4.

Norman Redlich, a lawyer who teaches at New York University, engineered the reprieve and was called an interloper by Woods. Redlich appealed for a federal court review of Wood's case. This was denied but the lawyer was granted time to appeal the decision.

Redlich said he was aware of Wood's objections to his intervention but that he intended to persist. He would not detail his motives in entering the case unbidden, except to say:

"I am raising the issue as to whether New York State has a constitutional duty to assign counsel to an indigent defendant after the appeal from his sentence and before his execution."

Last Tuesday, Wood wrote Sing Sing Warden Wilfred Denno:

"Dear warden:

"Please rush word to Norman Redlach (sic) that I resent very much his intrusion and tell him to withdraw from my case pronto. I have a legal right to approve of any counsel associated to my case.

"This interloper, however well-intentioned he may be, is not welcome. My 4 lawyers assisting in the case prior to trial have withdrawn. I wish no further legal action. I am all set and prepared to go Thursday night at 10 and I do not want any do-gooder to interfere."

Lincoln PCA Farm Loans Make New Growth Record

A 33% increase to $6,402,000 loaned to farmers in 1962 was the new growth record made by farmer-owners of the Lincoln Production Credit Association, according to Dwayne Dietze, secretary-treasurer, in his annual report.

The Lincoln PCA, wholly owned by farmers it serves in Lancaster, Otoe, Saline, Seward, York and Fillmore Counties, finished the year with a record number of members, and the association's net worth passed the $500,000 mark, Dietze said.

Association members termed the years highlight the donation of $6,000 of Class A stock which will provide a $300 scholarship to the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture for some boy or girl living in the 6-county area.

Summer in Europe

Ralph Raikes of Ashland, chairman of the Farm Credit Board of Omaha, reviewed his observations of farming in 10 European countries made last summer.

"European farmers are just beginning to undergo the technological revolution in agriculture which American farmers have experienced in the past generation," he said.

E. J. Petrik of Omaha, president of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank, told the group: "Farmers use credit as a tool for efficient production, just as they use improved crops and better machinery."

R. L. Kaliff, PCA president, was chairman of the annual meeting.

Kaliff and Everett Clark of Unadilla were re-elected directors. Other directors are Mrs. Ruth P. Gard of Beaver Crossing, Lloyd Bevans of Waverly and Fred Wedeking of Geneva.

State Game Commission Post To Story

Gov. Frank Morrison Thursday appointed A. H. (Harlan) Story of Plainview to the State Game Commission.

Story succeeds Clem Ballweg of Spaldi g who was appointed to fill the vacancy when Sen. LeRoy Bahensky of St. Paul resigned to run for the 1963 Legislature.

Story, 41, is a farmer and widely-known sportsman. He currently is serving as national vice president of the Izaak Walton League, is a past president of the Nebraska Izaak Walton League, and is vice chairman of the Pierce County Soil and Water Conservation District.

He is married and has two children.

Commenting upon the appointment, Gov. Morrison said, "It is a real privilege for me to have the opportunity to appoint a man so well qualified and so knowledgeable in the fields in which the Game Commission is engaged.

"Harlan Story is a person who is equally interested in park dev 'opment as he is with fishing and hunting. I am sure he will be a real asset to Nebraska."

France Defies Her Market Partners

. . . SAYS TALKS WITH BRITAIN USELESS

Paris (AP) — France Thursday defied its European partners on Common Market membership for Britain. Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville told the National Assembly further talks now are useless.

The minister appeared before the assembly after a cabinet meeting confirmed the French position on this issue. A cabinet spokesman said negotiations with Britain are already broken off.

Reacting quickly to the French cabinet meeting, Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak told the Belgian senate in Brussels that the prosperous trading block might be wrecked on the rock of French resistance.

In London, British negotiator Edward Heath informed the House of Commons that Britain will try to keep the talks alive and will have the active support of France's 5 market partners, Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Some sort of showdown may come Monday, when the negotiations are scheduled to resume in the Belgian capital.

Couve de Murville told the assembly that 5 major points divide the Common Market and Britain, proving that the time is not ripe for Britain's entry.

Repeating what President Charles de Gaulle said in announcing France's adamant position at his Jan. 14 news conference, Couve de Murville said Britain might enter some day when it is sufficiently evolved toward the continent.

The foreign minister listed the 5 points as the status of other members of the outer 7 free trade group of Western Europe, with which Britain is associated; Britain's request for duty-free entry of certain products; agricultural policy; food imports from some commonwealth nations, and financial arrangements.

Echoing De Gaulle, Couve de Murville said the solution now would be associate status for Britain in the Common Market. British negotiators have already rejected this.

Turning briefly to issues of nuclear defense, Couve de Murville reiterated De Gaulle's statement that France must have its own, strictly national nuclear force. Referring to the nuclear situation in Europe, Couve de Murville spotlighted De Gaulle's chief complaint against Britain:

"As for England, she is tied by the special relations which she has maintained for a long time with the United States, and which have again just been reinforced in the recent accords at Nassau."

In talking with reporters, the cabinet spokesman deliberately described the breakdown in negotiations at Brussels as an accomplished fact, and said there is no point in resuming the talks with Britain.

Depth Of Defense To Decrease Temporarily In Italy And Turkey

Washington (AP)— President Kennedy's confirmation that Polaris missiles will replace Jupiter rockets in Italy and Turkey appears to pose a temporary decrease in the depth of target coverage from Mediterranean bases.

It has been a pretty well foregone conclusion that nuclear-powered submarines using Polaris missiles would supplant the obsolescent land-based Jupiter missiles in Italy and Turkey. But the President's statement at his news conference Thursday pinned it down definitely for the first time.

Negotiations now are under way for removal of 15 Jupiters from Turkey and 30 from Italy, with the vulnerable, above-ground, landbased rockets giving way to the under-sea-borne Polaris system.

The Jupiter missile has a range of approximately 1,500 miles, while the original Polaris, the A-1, has a range of 1,380 miles. But military men figure the Jupiters in Turkey actually are some 400 miles closer to targets in the Soviet Union, taking into account that the Polaris submarines must operate well off shore while the Jupiters are inland near the Soviet border.

This disadvantage, however, presumably will be pretty well corrected when the A-2 Polaris, now coming into use, is generally available with its 1,750-mile range. The A-3 Polaris is being developed with a 2,880-mile range.

U.S., Britain Would Defend India From Bomber Attacks

New Delhi (UPI)—Reliable sources said Thursday American and British air forces will take over the air defenses of India's interior if there are signs communist China is preparing heavy bomber raids.

The United States and Britain already have agreed to rush fighter squadrons to India in the event of Red bombing strikes, according to the sources.

Official Indian sources stressed this meant no change in India's neutralist policy, pointing out that the term "military alliance" was not used in the conversations which led to the present understanding.

However, it was the first time that India has asked foreign forces to help defend the country. The sources said the idea for the foreign air umbrella emerged last November when the Indians realized their cities would be helpless against communist air attacks and that it would take years and billions of dollars to build up defenses.

Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru was said to be concerned by the possibility of Chinese raids on the heavily populated cities of New Delhi, Calcutta, and Bombay.

1,160 CUBAN REFUGEES CATCH SHIP

Miami (UPI) —The cargo ship Shirley Lykes sailed from Havana for Port Everglades, Fla., Thursday night carrying 1,160 Cuban refugees, the Red Cross announced here.

A spokesman said bad weather might slow the crossing to Florida, but that the $10 million vessel, which went to Cuba with a second shipload of prisoner ransom goods, should arrive at the Florida port just north of Miami about 7 a.m., CST, Friday.

The Red Cross said it had been informed from Havana that the Shirley Lykes lifted anchor at 6 p.m., and steamed into Havana Harbor half an hour later.

'Sower' Sculptor Lee Lawrie Dies

World-famed sculptor Lee Lawrie known to Nebraskans through his creation "The Sower" atop the State Capitol, succumbed to a lingering illness this week in Easton, Md.

Services for the 85-year-old designer, who died Wednesday, are pending. He is survived by his widow, Mildred, and a son, Lee Jr.

Much of Mr. Lawrie's fame rests on the work he did at the Nebraska Statehouse. His "Sower," a symbol of hope and tilling of the soil, was modeled after his studies of Czech farmers near Crete.

East Senate Doors

He also designed the complete interior and exterior scheme for the Capitol, as well as the Indian Doors to the East Senate Chamber.

Other Statehouse works include Wisdom and Justice, Power and Mercy, the buffalo, pioneer panel, Mayflower Compact, Magna Carta, Las Casas Pleading the Cause of the Indians, Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation, Pentaour, Roman Tribune, State Seal and detail work of decorative elements.

He also served as sculpture consultant for the Nancy Hanks Lincoln Memorial.

One of the most famous works he had a hand in is carried in the pockets of virtually every American. He helped with the bas-relief of former President Franklin D. Roosevelt on the American dime.

RCA, Louisiana

Also included in his work are the designs for the main entrances for New York's RCA Building, and the Louisiana State Capitol. He created the agricultural symbol, the "Cane Cutter" for Louisiana.

Born in Rixdorf, Germany, he came to the United States as an infant. He studies sculpture while still in his teens under such notables as Richard Henry Parks, Augustus Saint-Gaudens and Phillip Martiny.

He was appointed a sculptor-member of the National Fine Arts Commission in 1933 for 5 years by former President Herbert Hoover. He was reappointed by former President Harry Truman in 1945 and served until 1950.

Bill For Testing Drivers Advanced

The Education Committee Thursday advanced to general file a bill, LB83, which would require the more than 1,500 school bus drivers in Nebraska to take an annual written skill and physical examination.

Also advanced were LB107, which would allow compensation for irrigation improvements on state school lands, and LB108, calling for cash or a certified check equal to one year's rental to accompany a school land lease bid.

LB84, which was heard and held Tuesday, was also reported out of committee. This would give the State Board of Education discretionary power to waive dissolution of districts which haven't held school or contracted for one full year.

Ag Committee OKs Switch In Game Body

At least two members of the Nebraska Game Commission would be farmers or ranchers under LB211 which received 7-0 approval Thursday of the Agriculture Committee.

At the present time one of the commissioners must be engaged in agricultural pursuits.

LB211 was one of two "public relations" measures which won the committee's approval.

Advanced 6-1 was LB172 under which the boundaries of commission districts would be changed so Douglas and Sarpy Counties would comprise one district, instead of being in one with Washington, Dodge, Saunders, Colfax and Butler Counties.

Sen. Eric Rasmussen of Fairmont was principal introducer of LB211. He said its "sole aim is to improve farmer-hunter relationships."

SEN. DON McGINLEY

'Safeguards Should Calm Fears'

Sen. Don McGinley of Ogallala said Thursday he believes his bill proposing the use of eminent domain for the State Game Commission contains "such strong safeguards" it should allay any fears which have been expressed in the past about the agency's having such authority.

The bill, LB394, provides that the commission may use eminent domain to acquire sites to be used for state parks, historical parks, recreation areas and wayside areas.

It requires, however, that before the commission may use the eminent domain procedure to acquire such sites it must "make a showing to the Legislature that all diligent efforts for negotiation with the owners have failed" and "obtain approval of the Legislature for the specific projects to be condemned."

Indian Cave Cited

McGinley cited the proposed Indian Cave Park in southeast Nebraska as an example of how the commission sometimes needs eminent domain in order to develop its park system.

There are a number of untitled tracts of land within the acreage proposed for the park, he explained, and the only way the state can acquire these properties is through eminent domain.

"I am aware of the public concern expressed over past attempts to give the Game Commission blanket authority with eminent domain," McGinley said, "and that's why I sought to draft a bill with extreme care.

"Under this bill, the Game Commission will be able to use eminent domain where absolutely necessary, but under very restricted supervision," the Ogallala senator concluded.

Conditional Sales Contracts Fee Increase Controversial

A bill raising the filing fee for conditional sales contracts from 50 cents to $1 was the only controversial issue Thursday during a public hearing of the Legislature's Salaries and Claims Committee.

Carl Hartman, Lancaster County clerk, supported the measure, LB39, introduced by Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha, on the basis that the fee should be the same as the recording fee for chattel mortgages, raised during the legislative session from 50 cents to $1.

"We should make these filing fees uniform," he said.

Opposition to this stand came from a representative of the Associated Retailers of Omaha and the Associated Credit Bureaus of Omaha, George Wruck.

The bill, by raising the filing fee for conditional sales contracts, would discourage people from recording these contracts, he contended.

The bill was advanced to general file, along with LB34, increasing the fees received by the county judge in estate cases; LB35, establishing the fee for an appointment of a custodian of a minor's property; and LB36, increasing the filing fee for filing notary public commissions in the office of the county clerk.

Vogt Asks Legislature Probe Of Reformatory

The former director of education at the Men's Reformatory Thursday asked the Legislature's Committee on Committees to direct a legislative investigation of the Department of Public Institutions and the Reformatory.

Charles Vogt Jr., now a resident of Pawnee County and himself a former state senator, made the request in testifying in opposition to confirmation of the appointment of State Institutions Director George Morris.

The 13-member committee called an executive session for 9 a.m., Friday to continue its consideration of Morris' appointment by Gov. Frank Morrison.

Chairman George Gerdes of Alliance told newsmen following the meeting that "it's up to the committee" whether new witnesses will be called.

An observer at Thursday's hearing was Reformatory Superintendent C. V. Keller.

In opposing confirmation of Morris, Vogt suggested that "you determine the worth of the director by the people he hires to run the institutions."

Less than 30 days after Keller named Morris to head the Reformatory, inmates were involved in "a serious riot," Vogt said.

It was caused, he declared, by a new policy directing school attendance by inmates over age 30 and by denial of certain recreation privileges, including boxing.

"Inmates also felt that they were going to be denied privileges of the recreation room," Vogt said.

Mentions Fights

He also touched on reports of fights at the institution and allegedly large grocery requisitions by the superintendent.

Vogt said he was speaking for a group of employes, past employes, inmates and former inmates in requesting "our day in court."

Sen. Cecil Craft of North Platte asked Vogt if he was "a disgruntled (former) employe . . . who thinks the man just didn't run the institution like you thought he should."

Vogt replied that he is "concerned about the welfare of the inmates."

He was removed from his Reformatory post last year.

Sen. Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln told the committee that she will testify in favor of Morris' confirmation in executive session.

STUDENT CAR TAX LOCATION BILL MOVES UP

The Revenue Committee Thursday advanced 3 bills to general file, including LB183 which provides that the tax situs of a motor vehicle owned by a student shall be the county of his residence.

The other two measures advanced to the floor of the Legislature were LB101 authorizing counties of more than 15,000 population to license dogs, and LB120 which increases the fee for filing notice of suit related to real estate.

Sen. George Gerdes of Alliance, introducer of LB183, explained the bill was proposed to correct an oversight of the 1961 Legislature which intended to exempt students' motor vehicles from the tax situs measure passed in that session.

The 1961 measure required that motor vehicles must be taxed where they are principally stored and kept.

Bob Thomas To Head State's Broadcasters

Bob Thomas of station WJAG in Norfolk was elected Thursday as president of the Nebraska Broadcasters Association, succeeding Arden Swisher of KMTV, Omaha.

Thomas

The broadcasters also elected Frank Fogarty of Meredith, WOW, Omaha, as vice president and Richard Chapin, executive vice president of the Stuart Stations, Lincoln, as secretary-treasurer.

Thomas had served as president of the group in 1953.

Radio - TV men elected to the board of directors included Harry Peck of North Platte, Bill Walter of Scottsbluff, William Moore of Grand Island, Newell Eastman of Ogallala and Harry Snyder of Fremont.

For ETV

NBA put itself on record Thursday in favor of educational television for Nebraska but took a stand against acceptance of any federal funds for ETV.

Additionally, the association specified that its support of ETV is given only if broadcast methods, rather than closed circuit methods, are used.

Action was taken at a wind-up session of the 29th annual NBA convention in Lincoln. Scottsbluff was awarded next year's NBA convention.

In considering the position to be taken on educational television in Nebraska, the association first adopted a motion recommending that administration of ETV in the state be under the University of Nebraska rather than under some newly created ETV commission such as the governor's ETV committee has recommended. There were no dissenting voices.

The motion to endorse ETV provided it is conducted in Nebraska by broadcast channels rather than by closed circuit was approved on a 22-2 show of hands.

Exciting Days

Lincoln's biggest sports show starts tomorrow — the annual Men's and Women's bowling tournament.

Hundreds of keglers will commence attacking the pins with gusto — stimulated by competition, a chance for prizes and just plain fun.

As usual, there will be some familiar names among the leaders. It's tough to keep the old reliables out of the money. But you can bet there will be some unsung bowlers jump into the spotlight with a hot performance.

The city bowling tournaments also bring on a lot of hard work by a dedicated crew. Each night Stella Kauffman and her all-girl staff of tabulators will burn the midnight oil — and keep the coffee pot boiling — in order to keep the standing up to date.

Men's secretary Bernie Kossek and his crew of hearties will be doing the same chore for the male brigade.

Sports writers will be digging up stories, pressing for results and — near the end — muttering to themselves in a sort of number language.

But the bowlers will bowl, the workers will work and somehow the job of running off the tournaments and getting the news will be done.

Make no mistake, the city tournaments are mighty big and mighty difficult to launch, guide and conclude. But thanks to dedicated workers like Stella, Bernie and all their assistants the Lincoln show is always blessed with a minmum of confusion.

And it is a good show, too. So if you want an inexpensive evening of sports entertainment — stop by one of the city tournament parlors.

Conference Switch?

The Central Intercollegiate Conference may be putting the rush on Kearney State Teachers College of the NCC.

Word from Kansas indicates Kearney might be wooed to replace departing CIC member, St. Benedicts.

Peru State Teachers College is also being mentioned and Kansas sources are speculating that the 6-team Nebraska College Conference is on shaky ground — paving the way for Kearney, for example, to jump at a new affiliation.

However, Kearney athletic director Charlie Foster, told the Topeka Capital that the CIC had not contacted the Antelopes.

Foster conceded an invitation to join the CIC would get "consideration," but said increased costs would be the stumbling block.

"We would have to have quite a bit more money just to travel," Foster told the Kansas paper. "Pittsburg is 500 miles away, and Washburn and Emporia State are long trips, too. Then, too, there is the question of scholarships. The CIC schools all have scholarship programs. We have no athletic scholarship or grant-in-aid funds here and don't intend to, so this alone would be a big factor to resolve."

Happy Day!

Bless the Nebraska Legislature.

I was afraid the current session would sneak by without a Dove Bill, but Senators Terry Carpenter, Cecil Craft and William Skarda have come through in great style.

The annual dove debates, hearings, hassles and jokes serve to brighten up the legislative session. Only the doves never seem to get excited over the issue.

Since the solons have so much serious business to consider and act upon, this corner is delighted the change-of-pace dove issue has been resurrected.

I don't know how the doves feel about dodging birdshot, but I'll bet they'd be happy to know they serve such a useful purpose every other year — comic therapy for legislators and reporters.

Figures In History Speak To Sports Writer

EDITORS NOTE: The following column was written by Sandy Grady of the Philadelphia Bulletin and was made available to the Associated Press for use by other newspapers.

Philadelphia (AP) — Cranking up the time machine — or how the great figures of history would have sounded had they given interviews to sports writers:

Napoleon exiled to Elba — "Sure, this is a shock, but I'll be back in the big leagues yet, boys. Remember, I had the club in first place and woulda won the pennant if I had any bench at Waterloo."

Cornwallis at Yorktown: "—I don't wanna complain, but in this league the home court is worth 10 points."

Warren G. Harding, before the Teapot Dome scandal — "Naturally we're investigating all the rumors, but so far this is just a lot of silly gossip. Our league is clean as a whistle."

Julius Caesar, warned of the Ides of March: "Whadya mean, you hear I'm gonna get the axe? After all the good years I've had with this club? Well, if it happens, you can quote me as saying, "That's baseball."

Jesse James — "Sure, I'm going for 100 steals this year, if my horse's legs hold out."

Hannibal after crossing the Alps — "One of the worst road trips of my experience. Frankly, the commissioner had better improve the schedule or some of the guys are quitting."

Leonidas after being overrun by Persians at Thermopylae — "Their 3 platoons just outmanned us. I can't compete against these big clubs unless the alumni go out and recruit."

Sherman after burning Atlanta — "I hated to run up the score on them, but the team was too hot to stop."

Lee before Gettysburg — "Sure, the club's tired but we're up for the playoff. I'll pitch Longstreet, Hill and Early, with Pickett in relief. We're just playing 'em one game at a time."

Sir Francis Drake after 3 years sailing around the world — "Frankly, travel conditions in this league are bush. I've told the queen, the franchises are too far apart."

Gen. Custer after Little Big Horn — "You can't win against a shooting percentage like they had. It was a comedy of arrows."

George Washington at inauguration— "It's a real challenge to take over a new franchise like this. I can only promise the fans we'll have a young, hustling team that will build for the future."

Czar Nicholas after revolution—"I've heard of being hung in effigy, but this is going too far."

Alexander the Great after conquering all known world — "Which way is Green Bay?"

SOUTH BUMPS ROCKETS

—CLAY COMES THROUGH—

Cocky Cassius KO's Foe In Predicted 3

Pittsburgh (AP) — Backing his boastful prediction with a dazzling display of ring savvy and savage punching power, Cassius Clay knocked out a rugged but outclassed Charley Powell in the 3rd round of a scheduled 10-round heavyweight fight Thursday night at the Civic Arena.

Clay, in winning his 17th straight professional fight without a defeat, was in command the whole way and hardly worked up a sweat.

Although giving away 9 pounds to Powell, Clay battered his foe around unmercifully in the first two rounds.

The knockout came in 2:04 of the 3rd round. Clay came out immediately but Powell kept backing away. A series of punches backed Powell into a corner. Two solid left hooks, a right jab to the chin and another slashing left floored the former professional football player for the full count.

Powell, who went down to his 7th loss in 33 pro fights, bled profusely from a deep gash over his left eye. A vicious left hook opened the cut over the eye just before Powell was knocked out. His handlers had to help him to his feet.

It was the 14th knockout of Clay's career and the 13th time he has prophesied the exact round he would kayo an opponent.

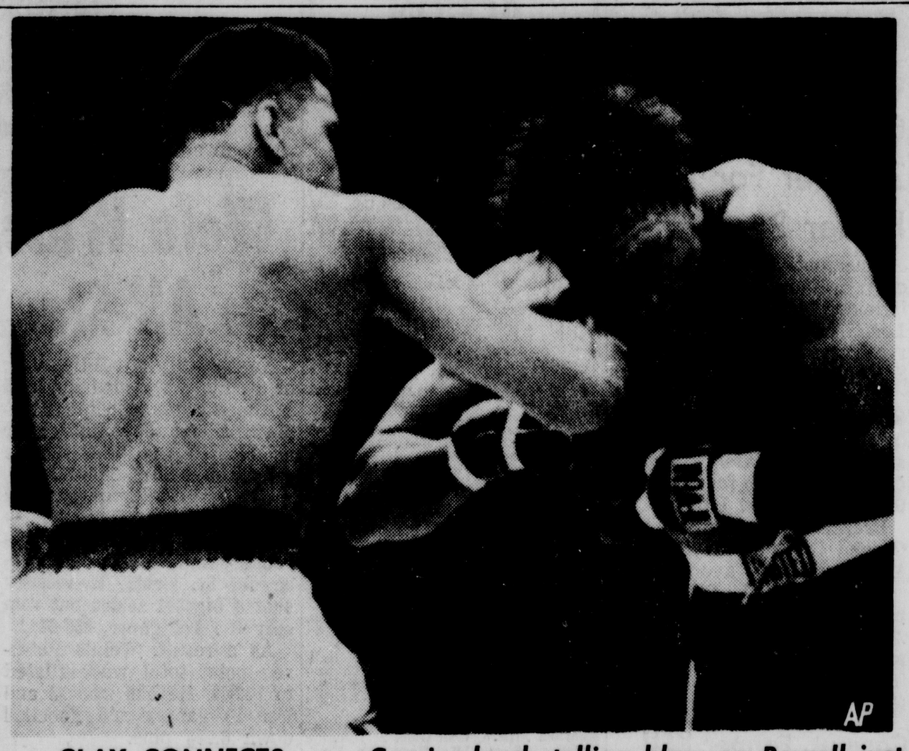

The cheering crowd, estimated at 11,000, sensed the kill as the 3rd round opened. Clay came out fast, stalked his foe and then finished him off. It was the only knockdown of the fight.

Clay appeared confident from the opening bell of fulfilling his prediction of knocking out Powell in the 3rd. When the two men first arrived in Pittsburgh last week, Clay had said he would dispose of Powell in 5 rounds, but later altered his prediction because he said Powell was "shooting off his mouth."

In his dressing room following the fight, Clay said:

"I'm making history calling all those rounds. No other fighter does that."

Speaking of the 3rd round knockout, Clay said, "That's a sign of a great champion. I shook him with a jab and 3 left hooks. I was working 7 punches but he didn't stand up long enough. You can't make a mistake with me. I'm too fast."

CLAY CONNECTS . . . Cassius lands telling blow on Powell just prior to knockout punch.

Rockets Lose 6th Contest

Omaha—Lincoln Northeast dropped its 6th game of the season against only two wins as Omaha South toppled the defending state champions, 48-43, here Thursday night.

The Rockets trailed all the way after falling behind 14-5 at the first quarter mark and were unable to catch the favored Packers.

The win gives Omaha South a 4-10 mark for the season with two of the victories coming against Capital City foes. The Packers romped over Lincoln Southeast, 65-41, earlier in the season.

Northeast outscored the homestanding Packers in each of the last 3 quarters but couldn't overcome the first quarter deficit.

Only 5 players entered the scoring column for Omaha South, but 3 of them scored in double figures with Ken Kennedy's 13 leading the way. Jim and Ken Vincent added 12 and 10 points respectively to the winning total.

Tom Ochsner counted 10 points for Northeast and Jerry Motz added 9.

Eastern Half May Not Be Better Half In 4-JC Loop

By DON SUMMERSIDE
Star Sports Writer

Initial contact in the 4-JC Conference showed evidence that perhaps the eastern half is not the better half after all.

Norfolk and Fairbury boasted national ranking before the disastrous two-game sets out west. The Blackhawks were undefeated (5-0) and rated 13th; Fairbury 19th.

McCook, on the other hand, had suffered through 9 successive defeats before picking up its first pair of wins from the two visitors.

Sparks Stopped

The Indians put the clamps on Fairbury's high-scoring Gary Sparks to notch the first victory. Sparks, averaging more than 30 points per game, was held to 15 points.

McCook then took advantage of poor Norfolk free throw shooting the next evening to gain a 74-71 decision.

Scottsbluff completed the western triumph by nipping Norfolk, 85-83, and smashing Fairbury, 113-85, setting a new one-game scoring record in the process.

In addition to the blow dealt the Norfolk title hopes, coach Gene Phillips' crew may be without frosh regular Leonard Kopecky's services for a time. The former Spencer flash suffered a knee injury on the road trip.

Driver's Seat

With only a 6-game conference schedule, McCook and Scottsbluff sit in the driver's seat with 2-0 records.

And the issue may be settled quickly. The two schools tangle twice within the week.

The Cougars host Scottsbluff tonight in a makeup of a snowed-out contest, then face off again at Scottsbluff January 31.

NCC Light

Nebraska College Conference action in the coming week is light with just two loop games on tap.

League-leading Wayne hosts Doane Saturday while Peru faces a stiff challenge at Hastings on the same day for second position in the conference.

The Bobcats' 4-overtime marathon at Doane kept them within a game of Wayne and brought to light some valuable bench strength. Jack Rinne and Don Schmidt more than shouldered their share of the load in the last two extra periods after regulars Bill Witty and Ron Snodgrass had fouled out.

In the Tri-State circuit, front-runner Westmar hosts Dana Saturday with Concordia and Midland scheduled for a weekend junket to Yankton and Sioux Falls, S. D. Weekend results should shed some light on the title chances of the Nebraska entries.

The week's schedule:

City Bowling Meet Opens Saturday

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Writer

More than 4,500 bowlers will take aim on the pins during this year's City Bowling Tournament, beginning at noon Saturday and continuing through Sunday, Feb. 3.

The women will begin firing in double and singles action at 11:45 a.m. at Northeast Lanes and the gal teams will toe the mark at 1:30 p.m. at Bowl-Mor.

Men's action gets under way at 12 noon with doubles and singles competition at Plaza. Team action for the men will start two hours later at Parkway.

The last squad of women's double and singles bowlers will roll at 6:30 p.m. and the teams will wind up at 4 p.m. Feb. 3.

Lincoln's male bowlers will complete singles and doubles at 1 p.m. and team competition at 4 p.m. Feb. 3.

All single, doubles and team champions in the women's division return to defend their crowns although there may be some personnel changes in the team champions.

This year's team entries (328) is the largest in history, according to ladies secretary Stella Kauffman. Doubles and singles entries total 312 and 500 have entered the all events competition — neither figure a record.

Defending champions in the women's division are:

Class A Scratch Team: Gerry's Sport Shop, Plaza Classic League (Dee Harrington, Eva Hariz, Elsie Gudeker, June Bower, Vi Grosenbach) 2,624.

Class A Handicap Team: Ttat's Service, Parkway 8 League (Wanda Arrowsmith, Marilyn Henry, Ruth Buckner, Butch Graves, Janice Tomcysk) 2,624.

Class B Scratch Team: Lincoln Welding, Ladies Big 12 League (Ginny Kimball, Ettamae Bransetter, Imogene Williams, Lola Weiss, Rosemary Murphy) 2,214.

Class B Handicap Team: Eagle D-X, Havelock Ladies League (Evelyn Ransford, Marjorie Nutlte, Audry Cook, Jan Becker, Janice Lowell) 2,440.

Scratch Singles: Eva Hariz, 640.

Handicap Singles: Sandy Willis, 663.

Scratch Doubles: Phyllis Martin, Berniece Janssen, 1,200.

Handicap Doubles: Martin, Janssen, 1,260.

Scratch All-Events: Kathy Dinges, 1,707.

Handicap All-Events: Betty Behrens, 1,808.

Men's entries total approximately 575 in doubles and singles with nearly 640 teams, according to Bernie Kossek, men's secretary. Both figures are slightly under last year's record totals, Kossek said.

All defending champs return in the men's division with the exception of the Holiday Inn team that bowled a 3,006 series in winning the scratch and handicap team titles last year.

The members of that winning team—Jim Riddell, Ward Zimmerman, Stan Dority, Jim Dill and Bill Koehler—are all returning but with different teams.

Dill is bowling with Colonial Inn, Dority with Chubbyville Drive-In, Riddell and Zimmerman with Johnson Supply and Koehler with the Bali Hai team.

Other defending men's champions:

Scratch Doubles: Jim Dill and Bill Koehler, 1,310.

Handicap Doubles: Dill and Koehler, 1,313.

Scratch Singles: Wally Barnett Jr. 672.

Handicap Singles: John F. Phinney, 728.

All-Events: Barnett, 1,867.

Koehler may be slowed by a toe injury suffered nearly a week ago.

Prep Cage Leaders Face Tough Tests

By CONDE SARGENT
Prep Sports Writer

Lincoln University High and Creighton Prep can prove their rights to Class B and A high school top-seeded berths this week.

Or Falls City and Omaha Westside can bedevil the rankings of prep cage clubs.

These two Friday night games—Uni High at Falls City and Westside at Prep—are the top games on the high school slate.

The two Class B powers are unbeaten with University High seemingly holding an edge by comparative scores.

But Falls City, ranked 3rd in B, is noted for being able to hold more than its own at home.

It was at Falls City that the Tigers nipped 4th-ranked Crete earlier. The game will mark University High's first sojourn against tough competion.

Westside and Prep haven't met either.

Third best game in the state should be Grand Island's trip to North Platte Saturday. It will afford the Platters a chance at redeeming last week's double loss at home to McCook and Scottsbluff.

All Lincoln clubs but Northeast are busy both nights. The Rockets treked to Omaha South Thursday for their only engagement.

Lincoln High hosts Boys Town Friday night and then heads to Omaha for a shot at luckless Benson Saturday night.

The game will be played at the new Monroe Junior High School.

Southeast hosts Mid-East foe Hastings Friday, then heads for Bellevue Saturday night.

Pius X is at Beatrice Friday, then returns to its own gym Saturday against Omaha Cathedral.

University High is at the Tutor gym Saturday against Ashland.

All local games begin at 8 p.m.

This week's top games:

Uni High at Falls City—The host club will surprise the Lincolnites with a tough defense. Uni will rebound against Ashland Saturday.

Pius X at Beatrice—Pius should start a weekend sweep.

Hastings at Southeast — Expect an upset by Southeast.

Lincoln High at Omaha Benson—It'll be tough but Lincoln should annex.

Grand Island at North Platte—Grand Island should gain some momentum.

Hickman walked away with the Lancaster County Tournament crown Thursday night by disposing of Firth, 35-22.

Hickman drew first blood by taking the lead, 2-0, with two minutes gone in the first quarter.

Firth never tallied until midway in the first period, when the Wildcats took a short-lived 3-2 lead. By the end of the period, Hickman held a 11-6 advantage.

In the second period of play, Firth rallied for 6 points in the last 3 minutes. And at the same time kept Hickman scoreless, leaving Hickman with a slim 17-15 halftime lead.

Schmutte led the Bulldogs with 22 points.

In the consolation game, Panama came from behind in the 3rd period to defeat Bennet, 35-31.

Bennet, beginning the last quarter trailing 22-20, managed to tie the game midway in the quarter, but never managed to take the lead.

In volleyball, Malcolm earned the tourney crown by beating Panama in two sets, 8-6, 6-4. Hickman coped 3rd place by defeating Bennet in two sets, 12-6, 5-3.

It will be a 2 of 3 fall or 60-minute affair. Tuesday's grapple starts at 8:30 p.m.

A new mystery man has invaded the area, Pesek said, in announcing that The Rebel —who wears a mask — has been signed to battle Bobby Managoff in the semifinal event.

Another newcomer, Waldo Von Erich, will meet Omaha's Ernie Dusek in the special event, booked for one fall.

Opening the show will be a one-fall scrap between Guy Mitchell and Tony Nero.

Loyola Gains Top Spot

. . . DUNKEL BOOSTS RAMBLERS TO TIE FOR 1ST

By DICK DUNKEL

It's taken 25 years—and it may not last long — but Loyola of Chicago is back in the seat of college basketball's mighty.

Actually, it's only half a seat. The Ramblers currently are tied with national champion Cincinnati for the top rating.

It was back in the late thirties, when a typical basketball score was 29-27, that Loyola last visited No. 1 spot in the Dunkel Index, although it came close again in 1948-49.

The present Ramblers have won all 17 of their games this season by the average margin of 28.4 points over opposition indexed at 54.5 for the monentary high total of 82.9.

The higher rating teams have won in 78.4% of the 1,357 games covered here through Jan. 21. At that time national leaders had rated themselves as follows:

Stock Market Posts Gains

New York (AP)—The stock market chalked up its fourth straight rise Thursday as Big Three motors paced an irregular advance. Activity in some lower-priced issues was a feature.

The auto shares forged gains as mid-January sales of cars were reported 12% higher than a year ago.

Steels, airlines, aerospace issues and a variety of industrials sagged, with the result that the Dow Jones industrial average was off .59 at 676.99.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained .2 at 254.9 with industrials up .4, rails off .1, and utilities up .1.

Of 1,286 issues traded, 571 advanced and 464 declined. New highs for 1962-63 totaled 55. The single new low was American Cement.

Volume was 4.81 million shares compared with 4.82 million Wednesday.

The list of 15 most active stocks included 11 gainers, three losers, and one stock unchanged, general Telephone & Electronics.

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 1.14 million shares compared with 1.22 million Wednesday.

Corporate and U.S. government bonds rose slightly.

Pathet Lao Fires Blast At U.S. Aid

Vientiane, Laos (AP)— The pro-communist Pathet Lao fired a new blast Thursday in an apparent campaign to force the withdrawal of the U.S. aid mission from Laos.

The leftist faction of Laos' 3-party government called on the international control commission to invite both the mission and Air America (a charter airline employed by the mission) "to get out of Laos and to supervise the withdrawal."

Pathet Lao charged that the mission was "committing flagrant violations of the 1962 Geneva agreement," which ended the civil war in Laos, and that Air America planes were flying illegally over neutralist and leftist territory, "dropping arms, ammunition, food and men."

A U.S. embassy spokesman said the charges were "baseless, ridiculous and entirely false."

U.S. officials in Washington viewed the charges as a propaganda play.

Court Rules Sources Of News Unprivileged

London (UPI) — The High Court of Britain held Thursday that newsmen must divulge confidential sources of information when such disclosure is a "matter of urgent importance."

The historic ruling was handed down in the case of a London newsman found in contempt of court for his refusal to name sources for a story about Soviet spying. The newsman said he would take his fight to the House of Lords, Britain's highest court of appeal.

The lord chief justice of the High Court, Lord Parker, left the door open for newsmen involved "in special circumstances of any particular case." He said it was up to the court to decide on each case.

Unprecedented

The ruling came in an unprecedented "freedom of the press" case stemming from special investigations into Soviet spying in the British admiralty.

Daily Sketch reporter Desmond Clough, 34, refused to tell the 3-man High Court the source for a story that Russian trawlers "turned up with uncanny accuracy" to spy on secret NATO sea exercises.

Parker held Clough in contempt but reserved a decision on punishment.

Investigating Spying

Clough had refused to disclose his source to the special tribunal investigating Soviet espionage in the admiralty following the conviction of William John Vassall last September on charges of passing secrets to the Russians. Vassall, an admitted homosexual, was sentenced to 18 years in prison. Clough maintained that Vassall's work aided the Russian trawlers.

When the court asked Clough Thursday to disclose his sources of information, the newsman replied:

"I am still refusing. I would be breaking a firm trust. I and all journalists feel passionately on this subject of freedom of the press."

Parker said he sympathized with Clough's "point of principle." But he said:

"There must be emergencies and urgencies in the interests of the state where all interests must be subordinate to the state."

Champ Spuds Displayed By Gering Man

Scottsbluff—A sample of Norland potatoes entered by Harlan Drawbaugh of Gering took championship honors at the State Potato Show Thursday.

It marks the second year that the Norland variety has captured top honors.

Reserve honors went to a sample of Haig potatoes entered by Vick Martin of Scottsbluff.

The two growers captured top honors in a field of 92 samples entered by 62 growers.

Last year 57 samples were entered according to Monte Hendricks, Scotts Bluff County agent.

Other winners in the varieties classes were:

Pontiac: Steven Green of Minatare.
La Soda: Jake Krantz of Bayard.
Progress: George Hall of Bridgeport.
Norland: Drawbaugh.
Bounty: Henry Johannes of Scottsbluff.
Haig: Martin.

Newville Opposes Compulsory Car Insurance Bill

The president of the Nebraska Association of Insurance Agents said a bill which would require every driver to carry automobile insurance "would worsen, rather than help, the safety picture" in Nebraska.

The association president, Don F. Newville of Lincoln, referred to LB404, introduced by Sens. LeRoy Bahensky of St. Paul and William Moulton of Omaha.

Newville said the bill would be harmful because similar proposals have not worked in other states, compulsory automobile insurance would triple liability rates, Nebraska has 90 to 90% of its drivers insured now anyway, Nebraska drivers already have "uninsured motorist" protection available on their policies and compulsory insurance is socialistic since it puts the state in business competition with private industry.

OU To Graduate 10 LAFB Officers

Ten Lincoln Air Force Base officers are among 437 graduates who will receive degrees at the University of Omaha's third annual mid-year commencement exercises Saturday.

The Most Rev. Gerald T. Bergen, archbishop of Omaha, will address the graduates at 10 a.m. in the OU field house on "The Ecumenical University."

Reeves' Measure Apparently Stems From NFO Action

A bill which obviously stemmed from some of the actions of the National Farmers Organization in keeping farm commodities off the market several months ago was introduced in the Legislature Thursday.

Principal sponsor was Sen. T. C. Reeves of Central City.

Under the measure, it would be unlawful for any person or group to interfere or attempt to interfere with any person in the exercise of his right to work, or right to enter upon any lawful employment, "including farming and ranching enterprises involving purchases of supplies and marketing of commodities."

The bill provides any legal picket would have to display a sign with the person's name and that of the protesting organization in "upper case lettering of not less than two and one half inches in height."

Reeves said the bill is directed at insuring the "free flow of livestock and other goods to market on an orderly basis." He added, "we want to be able to do this without the interference of minority groups."

DID YOU KNOW THIS? IT'S A FACT:

In European countries, particularly France and Italy, prunes are gourmet fare.

At the end of 1960, there were 141,700,000 telephones in the world, more than half of them in the United States.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

Here's How To Work It

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another, in this example, A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptoquote Quotation

Z N Y F D F X Q F J Z G F R W, Y C D F D N Z B Y W D E W U Z D E W P X U G F P D C W. — I C F Q D F O F Z Q

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.
